Official Returns Show That Pine Tree State Objects to Breaking Drought.

CHANGE IN FAVOR OF "DRYS" CAME AS GREAT SURPRISE

The "Drys" Had Conceded Defeat and the "Wets" Were Jubilant---The "Wets" Intend to Secure an Inspection of the Ballots—Interest in Outcome Country-Wide.

Portland, Maine, September 13.—Revised returns on the question of the repeal of constitutional prohibition at 1 o'clock this morning reduced the majority against repeal to 295. The total vote stood:

For repeal, 60,216; against repeal, 60,511.

Day of Constant Surprises.

The day was one of almost constant surprises, during which the result was many times hanging in the balance. There are official returns from town and city clerks in all but 126 towns and plantations.

Most of the towns yet to be heard from have been unofficially reported with small majorities favoring retention of the prohibitory amendment in the constitution and any change in the vote of these places is likely to help the prohibitionists.

Change a Big Surprise.

In addition to the 295 majority shown by the clerks' returns, there are fifty more "dry" votes known to exist in Portland, which are not included in the city clerk's report because of an admitted error. If necessary the anti-repealers will petition for a recount.

The change from an apparent victory for the "wet" side by 700 votes to 295 votes in favor of the "drys" came as a big surprise. The prohibitionists had practically conceded defeat, while representatives of those who sought to repeal had sent out numerous statements on the strength of their apparent safe majority.

Of the other referendum questions before the people yesterday, that proposing to making Augusta forever the

TOUR OF GEORGIA NATIONAL AFFAIR

Little Rock, Ark., Will Send Over an Entry.

Tedford and Williams Coming From Little Rock in an Overland — Inquiries About Tour Have Been Received From Michigan.

With an entry from Little Rock, Ark., already assured and inquiries from Michigan regarding prospective entries, the coming Tour Around Georgia is growing into an affair of national interest and importance.

W. L. Tedford and Frank Williams, of Little Rock, will drive an Overland car through from that city to Atlanta in time to enter the Georgia tour, starting from Atlanta on the morning of October 22.

They propose to represent both their city and state, and to let them be heard from both on the trip to Atlanta and in the tour of the state.

Another purpose of their entry is to gather information and experience which will be useful to them in arranging for a 'round-the-state tour in Arkansas next year in the interest of good roads.

The Constitution has also had inquiries from Michigan, several of them, regarding the coming Tour Around Georgia, with the prospect that a couple of cars will be entered from that state by parties coming through the country with a view to attending the Savannah races.

THAT HE WHO RUNS MAY READ AND UNDERSTAND NEW CHARTER

Following is the new Atlanta charter epitomized in tabloid form by five of the best lawyers in Georgia for the benefit of the busy man who desires to inform himself without loss of time—READ IT:

CITY LIMITS.

No change is made in the existing city limits.

WARDS.

There are ten city wards.

DIVISION OF GOVERNMENT.

The municipal government is divided into legislative, administrative and judicial.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The legislative department consists of ten councilmen, one from each ward, though all elected by vote of the city at large. Each of these receives an annual salary of $300. The term of office of the councilmen after the first year is two years, five being elected each year. The council has full legislative, but no administrative power. It must meet at least once a month.

ADMINISTRATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The administrative functions are vested in five men, who are to be elected by a majority vote of the entire city. Each member will have charge of one of the following departments: Department of public affairs and finance; department of streets, sewers and waterworks; department of sanitary, health and hospitals; department of public safety, which includes the police, fire and electric lights; department of parks, public property and libraries.

The terms of the office are four years, and arranged to expire biennially. The present mayor, with other officers elected by the people and now holding office, will finish the terms to which the people elected them.

The mayor is vested with veto power, the power of signing checks, calling extra meetings of council and the administrative body, exercising a general supervision over all departments, and at any time calling the public's attention to any matter affecting any department. The mayor also heads of one of the five departments. His salary is to be $6,000 per year. The salaries of the other four members of the administrative body are to be $5,000 per year each. The mayor and the other four administrative members are required to give their entire time to their respective duties.

No person is eligible to be mayor or other member of the administrative body who is an officer or stockholder in any public utility corporation, and no member is allowed to hold any other office, either county, state or national. Each member must give bond for $25,000.

HOW OFFICES ARE FILLED.

The city marshal, city clerk, city attorney and city comptroller are to be elected by a majority vote of the administrative body. All other positions are to be filled by the member having charge of the department embracing such position.

The various administrative officers now in office, and who were elected by the people, will serve their term; but after the terms are ended each is to serve under the direction and full authority of the executive department or the member having charge of that particular department. At the expiration of their terms these officers are to be chosen by the administrative member in charge of the department in which they serve.

The city tax assessors are to be nominated by the administrative board and ratified by the council. The regular term is three years.

A vacancy in the administrative body is to be filled by the four remaining members, until the next regular election. If no election is due in twelve months, the vacancy shall be filled by a special election on thirty days' notice.

No one is qualified to hold any position whatever in any department of the city who is related within the third degree by blood or marriage to any member of the administrative body or who is a stockholder in any public utility corporation. The clause, however, with reference to the relationship to members of the administrative body does not apply to such relatives as were in office prior to their election.

No member of the administrative department or member of council is allowed to have any interest, or be interested in a concern having any interest, in any city contract or subcontract.

The administrative body shall have stated times for meeting, and the meetings shall be open to the public. All records of meetings of the administrators and the council shall be open to public inspection.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

The present city recorder is retained in office until the expiration of the term to which the people elected him, and thereafter he, or his successor, is to be elected by the people for a term of four years.

TAXING POWER.

All taxing powers, including assessments, now vested in the general council are preserved and vested in the council of ten, no change being made in the present rate of taxation; and provision is made for an appeal and review of tax assessments, both real and personal. Powers of assessments for streets and sewers are likewise preserved to the council of ten. The administrative department is given all necessary powers of condemnation.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Civil service as it now obtains in the police department is completely retained in the new charter, and the administrative board is empowered to institute civil service in the fire and health departments.

PENSIONS.

The present system of pensions for policemen, firemen, school teachers, and other city officials and employees is retained intact.

AUDIT.

A thorough and complete audit of the books of officials or employees who handle city money is to be regularly made by an auditor who shall be nominated by the administrative board and confirmed by council.

RECALL.

The members of the administrative department are subject to a recall, exercisable as follows: Where seven members of the council deem it necessary for the public welfare that a member of the administrative department should be removed from office, they draw up a statement stating the grounds on which they base their conclusion, publish this a certain number of consecutive days in the newspapers, and call an election to fill a vacancy in that department. The member thus affected is eligible to be a candidate for reelection.

FRANCHISES.

Public utility franchises are limited to thirty years, and granted in the following manner: Notice of application for a franchise and the terms on which same is desired must be filed with the city clerk and published ten days in advance. The application is then passed on by the administrative body and the council, and must have a majority vote of both bodies acting separately. The mayor then has four days to consider before signing it. If vetoed by him, the grant can only be passed by a two-thirds vote of both bodies.

ACCOUNTING.

Each department must keep a complete and accurate check against all other departments. All moneys paid out must be on voucher. Monthly statements must be published by the comptroller. Quarterly and annual statements must be published by the various departments. These must be comparative after the first year. There must be an annual stock-taking in all departments.

BORROWING POWER AND CHARTER FUND.

As under the present charter, the city is empowered to borrow not exceeding $400,000 in any one year, provided the first incoming revenue not already apportioned shall be applied to the liquidation thereof. The city's annual expenditures and current indebtedness must not exceed its income for that year. Any member of the administrative body voting to go beyond this is held personally liable. The perpetual charter fund of $175,000 is retained, as required by the present charter.

WATERWORKS.

The waterworks are never to be sold, exchanged or otherwise disposed of. The same applies to Lakewood, except that it may be leased for not exceeding five years.

PURCHASE OF MATERIAL AND SUPPLIES.

All material, supplies for departments, purchases of equipment and contract work, involving the expenditure of as much as $500 during any one year, shall be purchased or let on competitive bids.

OATH OF OFFICE.

A comprehensive oath of office and other provisions provide against the appointment or service of "ward-heelers," making the employment thereof a misdemeanor.

WEST ALABAMA STREET.

Authority is given to open and extend Alabama street from the central portion of the city westwardly through land belonging to the state.

MARKET PLACES.

Market places may be established by authority of the executive department.

PRYOR STREET AND CENTRAL AVENUE.

The state consents that railroad tracks may be lowered to permit bridges on Pryor street and Central avenue.

SCHOOLS.

The department of schools is to be administered by a board of education, consisting of five citizens elected by the council from the city at large. They begin their terms on January 1st, 1912. They are to serve without pay. The regular term is five years.

SINKING FUND COMMISSION.

The sinking fund commission is retained as at present, with the same qualifications for holding office thereon.

BOARDS.

All existing boards are abolished.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF CHARTER.

The charter becomes effective January 1, 1912, if approved by a majority vote on September 27, 1911.

AD MEN DECLARE FOR NEW CHARTER

Regular Meeting Turns Into Rousing Charter Rally.

Club Plans To Give Efficient Aid to the Movement to Change City's Form of Government—Big Aviation Exhibition to Be Given.

The regular business session of the Atlanta Ad Men's club last night at Durand's cafe developed into a grand and rousing rally for the new charter.

This organization has pledged its support to the movement, and the members will begin work for the charter.

Every member present made a speech in behalf of the new government plan. Then resolutions indorsing the new charter were introduced and unanimously adopted. Then came the pledge of hearty support, offered by every member present, in vigorous "ayes."

The Ad Mens club will exert al ltheir influence toward putting the new movement through, and each and every member of that organization is henceforth an active worker for the new plan.

On election day members of the organization will render aid at the polls with the use of their automobiles.

On the 27th—the date of the charter election—a banquet will be given at Durand's by the Ad Men's club and election returns will be given. President G. W. Coleman, of Boston, the newly elected president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, will be present.

Other Business of Club.

During the convention of the League of American Municipalities, to be held here October 4, 5 and 6, Mayor James C. Hayes, of Minneapolis, will stop over in Atlanta for a day, at the invitation of George A. Miller, and deliver an address on "the value of an ad men's club to a city, as exemplified in the work of the publicity club in securing the great white way for Minneapolis."

Enthusiasm was evidenced in the aviation meet to be held by the Ad Men's club on October 21, the date of the arrival of the Glidden tourists. Thornwell Andrews, a well-known aviator, will perform at the speedway in a Curtiss biplane. The event will be under the auspices of the local organization.

BIRD-MAN CHECKED ON LONG FLIGHT

Mishap Stops Fowler's Voyage Across the Continent.

His Biplane Collides With Trees and Is Hurled to the Ground. Fowler Is Slightly Injured. To Resume Flight in Three Days.

Alta, Cal., September 12.—Aviator "Bob" Fowler, en route from San Francisco to New York, met with the first mishap of his cross-country aerial voyage this morning when in trying to make a landing necessitated by a refractory engine and steering gear, his biplane collided with two trees, hurling it to the ground and slightly injuring the bird-man. Both planes and the two propellers were broken, and Fowler will be delayed here for at least two days.

Something Went Wrong.

Leaving Auburn at 9:37 o'clock, Fowler arose to a height of about 400 feet and followed the route of the Southern Pacific tracks through the rolling approaches to the foothills district. For almost 40 minutes he sailed along without mishap, easily distancing the special train and automobiles that started from Auburn at the same time. As he came into view in this section, however, it was apparent that something was wrong. About a half mile from here his course deviated sharply. He did not slacken speed and his machine dashed full into the trees.

Machine Strikes Tree.

At a height of about 50 feet from the ground the right plane struck one tree and the force of the blow sent the craft careening against the other tree. This second blow crushed the left plane and both wings thus crumpled, the aeroplane hovered for a second and turned turtle as it started on its fall to earth.

Fowler remained in his seat until the machine struck the ground, when he was hurled against the motor and through the debris of the rudder to the ground.

Many persons who witnessed the fall from a distance rushed to his aid and his injuries were quickly given attention. His mechanicians were soon on the scene, having arrived on the special train that was following his course. Some of the broken pieces of the aeroplane were replaced with substitutes carried on the train but others had to be sent to Reno for repairs.

STEERS PARADE ON PEACHTREE AND VISIT FURNITURE STORE

Peachtree street for a few brief moments yesterday resembled the plains of the wild and woolly west before Buffalo Bill and Wild Bill Hickock were succeeded by the land promoters and the medicine show and the store of the American Furniture company at the same time came near being transferred into the Union Stock Yards of Chicago.

When a full fledged herd of steers, just as natural as they could be in a wild west show, appeared on that highway, curiosity and consternation vied with each other in the popular mind.

The horn of a plutocrat auto honked as the bovines drew near. A carbureter coughed and a muffler moaned. A handsome horse shied, and the cries of babies mingled with the shrieks of women added to the occasion when the bovines attempted to dispute the right of way with a traffic cop.

A steer is a peaceful animal. Genus bovine was originally intended for pastures green. Asphalt and autos are not the surroundings to which they are accustomed. Neither were they previously aware of the existence of traffic cops. They became excited. The hullabaloo which their presence caused added to that excitement.

March on Furniture Store.

Naturally they sought a haven of safety. They dashed down the street in search thereof. Their meek and lowly eyes rested on the American Furniture Company's store. There they saw baby carriages exhibited.

A steer is an animal of some wisdom. They figured that where babies are no harm can be. The same philosophy applied to baby carriages. Where baby carriages are, babies must be.

Right for the baby carriages. A big cow stormed the store. Clerks and patrons stormed the back entrance. The horned invaders had just started masticating on the wicker work of the carriages when some worthy, who knew the steer nature, shooed them out.

The drivers soon assembled the herd and the pilgrimage to the stockyards was resumed and the autos once more honked their proudest honk.

The beef market will be bulled (no pun) today.

Deplorable Condition of Affairs Clearly Shown at the Preliminary Meeting.

MANY COMPLAINTS MADE BY BUSINESS HOUSES AND BY INDIVIDUALS

Four Days for Letter to Go From Candler to Grant Building; 24 Hours From West End to Center of City; $1,000 Lost by Big Firm Through Delayed Mail, and Candy Firm Forced to Discontinue Sending Samples.

Fully convinced at its meeting yesterday afternoon that the local mail situation is in a deplorable condition, the chamber of commerce probe committee decided unanimously to go to the bottom of the matter and to this end will hold another meeting within a few days.

That it takes a letter more than four days to go from the Candler building to the Grant building, that upwards of 24 hours are usually necessary for important letters to be transmitted from West End to the center of the city; that a big firm of the city recently lost $1,000 because a letter was lost in the mail; and that a prominent candy firm here has had to discontinue sending out samples by mail because they were never delivered, were among some of the things the committee learned.

It was also shown at the meeting that mail between Atlanta and Washington is now often held up for several days because it cannot be properly "worked"; that for the sake of saving a few mail sacks, mail from the west and northwest often loses 18 to 24 hours while lying over here en route to points to the east and south; and that the Hitchcock policy of retrenchment has all but demoralized the railway mail service not only in and out of Atlanta, but practically throughout the southern states.

Complaints Against Local Office.

There were before the committee when it convened a score of complaints made by prominent business men from

12,000 VOTERS READY TO CAST THEIR BALLOTS

Heavy Registration on the Last Days the Books Were Open.

E. V. CARTER SAYS FIGHT FOR NEW CHARTER IS WON

Chairman of Central Campaign Committee Is Greatly Pleased With the Registration—Estimated That Three-Fourths of Those Qualifying on the Last Day Were for New Charter.

Fully 12,000 voters have been registered for the new charter election on September 27.

When the registration books closed at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, Registrar A. P. Stewart declared that one of the heaviest registrations in the history of the city had been recorded, and he estimated that at least 12,000 voters had registered.

It was generally conceded that the heavy registration which developed during the last few days had been due to the agitation of the new charter proposition, and that hundreds of voters had registered for the express purpose of casting their ballots in favor of it.

Register for Charter.

To the casual observer it appeared that the adherents of the new charter were vastly in the majority, and it was conservatively estimated that of the heavy registration Tuesday, the last day of registration, fully three-fourths of them favored the new charter.

E. V. Carter, chairman of the new charter central campaign committee, was especially pleased with the heavy registration.

"It means," said Colonel Carter, "that the fight is already won. Why should so many persons respond to the appeal to register if they were not interested in this great fight for Atlanta? It means that the people are awakening to the fact that a fight is on for civic betterment, and for commercial progress. It means that the people realize that now is the time to strike a blow at the antiquated system

SWORDS CROSSED BY GOVERNORS

Wilson and O'Neal Clash in Convention.

The Governor of Alabama Denounces Initiative and Referendum, and Governor of New Jersey Defends—Words Not Minced in the Debate.

Spring Lake, N. J., September 12.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, and Governor Emmett O'Neal, of Alabama, measurer swords over the initiative and referendum before the conference of governors this afternoon. Governor Wilson, as champion of the measures, replied to Governor O'Neal, who had previously denounced them as "an insidious popular vagary," and the southern executive was on his feet in a moment with an impassioned defense of his position.

Governor O'Neal spoke vehemently for ten minutes, bowed and without a word walked through a casement window to the piazza fronting the ocean.

"What's the use of my going back in there?" he asked a reporter. "I have already spoken twice and I am limited to two speeches on any one topic."

He did not re-enter the convention hall for fifteen minutes and took no further part in the discussion. When the conference ended, however, Governor Wilson grasped Governor O'Neal

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL BE SEATED WITHIN TWO DAYS

But Hundreds Will Be Forced to Go Into Other Districts This Year.

MAY USE A COAL HOUSE AT TENTH ST. SCHOOL

Class Room There Would Be Only Temporary, However. Transfers From Congested Schools to Those Not So Crowded Made at Meeting of Principals Tuesday Afternoon.

The congested condition in Atlanta's public school system was relieved yesterday.

Hundreds of children remained away from school on Monday and Tuesday, but by Thursday morning every school child in Atlanta will be comfortably installed in the more or less satisfactorily-situated school. This was determined Tuesday at the Boys' High school building, when forty-one principals gathered in a meeting that resulted in the complete mastering of the situation.

It developed that upon the beginning of the public school session this year, there was an overflow of 600 students. The congestion was encountered, however, in only a certain number of buildings, which throughout the system there were schools which could accommodate the surplus. By sending children in congested schools to those that were not crowded, the solution was reached.

Only those principals whose schools were not overcrowded were present at the meeting. Superintendent Slaton read out a statement of the condition of the crowded schools. Then as each school was mentioned the principals of the schools nearest to it told of the conditions in their own institution, and of how many more children they could care for. By this arrangement all the children will be looked after, though a good many of them will have to go out of their own districts in order to get an education.

of government under which we have labored for so long. It means that the great masses of our people realize that we have lived too long under a system of government that is costly to taxpayers, and that they are determined to rise as one man and throw off the yoke.

"The system of government which is proposed for Atlanta is not an experiment. It has been tried out before. It has been tried in cities as large as Atlanta, and it has never failed. All that is necessary to convince a man of its inestimable value is to read the synopsis of the new charter. It is clear and convincing. It will convert the most confirmed supporter of the old system. The striking contrast will leave no room for doubt."

Organize Wood Clubs.

Following the encouraging reports from the heavy registration Tuesday the central campaign committee at the meeting Tuesday afternoon decided to immediately proceed with the organization of the wards of the city in the fight for the new charter.

Chairman Carter has been supplied with the names of a number of supporters of the charter from each of the ten wards and it was decided that a meeting of these ward committeemen should be held Friday night in campaign headquarters at 12 1-2 South Broad street.

At this meeting the ward committeemen will be addressed by a number of speakers among whom are the following well known citizens of Atlanta: Robert F. Maddox, ex-mayor; Robert A. Broyles, Alex King, Charley Hopkins and Luther Z. Rosser.

It is expected that the ward committeemen will organize their wards and get them in splendid shape for the charter fight, after which a central rally will be held in the interest of the new charter.

It was decided by the committee that a central rally should be held at an early date, and to this end Dr. George Tigner and James E. Warren were appointed as a committee to engage either the Grand Opera House or some other convenient place for holding the central rally either Monday or Tuesday night of next week.

all portions of the city. The majority of these were in writing, but in a number of cases, those making the complaint were on hand to supplement their written protest by oral messages.

W. J. Lowenstein, of the Norris Candy Company, produced a big batch of correspondence, containing letters from his salesmen and his customers in all of which complaints about the non-delivery of mail sent to points outside the city were made. Mr. Lowenstein showed that in the majority of cases, it was samples of candy that went astray. He stated that his company had been forced to all but abandon sending out samples because of their failure of delivery.

Dr. J. C. King, vice president of the West End bank, was present in person and told how it habitually takes a letter posted at the sub-station in West End almost twenty-four hours to reach the Fulton National bank at Broad and Peachtree streets. The service has become so bad, stated Dr. King, as to prove a most serious handicap to the business of his bank. He stated also that there is most general complaint and dissatisfaction about mail service in the West End section.

Three Blocks in Five Days.

A letter from R. M. Walker, the well-known contractor, showed how it required almost five full days for a letter to go from his office in the Grant building to the Candler building, only three blocks away. He transacted the business over the telephone three days before the letter reached its destination, he said.

He also showed how a letter sent from the chamber of commerce in the Empire building was upwards of four days getting to his office in the Grant building, just across the street, and the striking feature of this instance is that the letter carried information about the chamber of commerce's probe into the local postoffice situation.

Letter and $1,000 Lost.

But neither of these were a circumstance, in Mr. Walker's opinion, to the loss of a letter which cost him a cool $1,000.

When about to let a contract for electrical work here Mr. Walker wrote to the National Electric Supply Company, in Washington, D. C., asking them for a price on the work. The company sent an answer of the first day of July. On July 15 Mr. Walker had heard nothing from the concern, decided that it did not wish to bid on the work and let it to another firm. Two days later he received a communication from the Washington concern asking why he had not replied to their bid and naming a figure an even $1,000 lower than that at which he had just let the work. The letter containing the bid has never yet been heard from.

Letters Unhandled for Hour.

John M. Cooper, of the Foote & Davies Company presented to the committee some interesting data, which showed that after mail has been deposited on the working table in the local postoffice, it is usually upwards of an hour before it is again handled.

For his own information, Mr. Cooper began several weeks ago having self-addressed cards posted at the postoffice every evening with the firm's mail. The boy who deposited the cards was instructed to mark on each the exact hour at which they were laid on the working table.

These cards, thirty or more in all, Mr. Cooper had with him, and from the stamps upon them together with the time of their deposit it was shown that the time elapsing between their being placed on the table and their being handled by the mail clerks averaged around an hour. On several occasions they ran as long as two hours and on Monday evening, the boy deposited the card (not in the mail box), but on the "working table" at 7:12 p. m., and the postoffice stamp showed that the clerk handled the card at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Cooper made the point that the postoffice authorities are in the habit of announcing that mail deposited thirty minutes before a train leaves will catch that train, which, in the light of his experiments, wouldn't happen oftener than once a month, if that often.

Mail Four Days Late.

Mail clerks on one of the trains coming into Atlanta Tuesday distributed along their route at small towns mail much of which was not only four days late, but which had been carried and re-carried by the towns to which it was directed not less than three different times. This information was carried to the committee through a thoroughly reliable source, and this is said to be anything but an isolated case.

The reason for the delay was that the mail clerks on the trains were so rushed with the more important "through" mails that they had no time to "work" the local stops. The mail was thus carried by on the first trip, turned over to the next train back where exactly similar conditions prevailed, was transferred to a third crew who found no more time than the others and was not distributed until it had been delivered to a fourth crew, who finally dropped it at its proper stations after it had been carried by at least three different times. Some of the letters were as much as four days overdue, it is said.

To Save Mail Pouches.

It was also shown to the committee that in order to save a few mail pouches, the practice of making up pouches for the different roads leading out of the city has been discontinued, causing delays of as much as 24 hours here in the forwarding of mails to the south, east and northeast.

For instance, on trains coming into Atlanta from Birmingham, there were formerly separate mail pouches for each of the lines running out of the city and into these pouches, mail for these trains was put. Consequently when the Birmingham train reached Atlanta nothing was necessary save to throw the central pouch, say, on the train, the work of a minute and the mail went forward without delay.

Now, however, these extra pouches have been done away with and all the sorting formerly done on the train is done in the terminal railway postoffice here. And if the Birmingham train should chance to be a few minutes late, there is not time to make up the mail for some of the trains, and the mail is forced to lay over here until another mail train leaves.

It was shown to the committee that nothing save the use of the pouches are saved by this new arrangement, as the mail clerks on the incoming train could sort the mail almost as easily while handling it as to have to handle it without sorting it.

Scores of Other Complaints.

Besides these, there were numbers of other complaints, several of which were registered by members of the committee. One called attention to an instance where a package of some 200 post cards lay in the local office from early Thursday afternoon until Saturday morning. The superintendent of local deliveries was appealed to, and his answer was:

"Sure, I remember that bunch of cards; I'll get them out for you right away."

They were delivered to addresses within a block of the house from which they were sent on the following Monday.

Committee Going Deep.

With the evidence in hand gone into rather superficially, the committee was unanimous in the opinion that the matter is one which demands immediate and serious attention. They are of the opinion, also, that to properly get at the matter will be the work of several weeks, and they are preparing to make a searching probe of the entire situation, not only with reference to the local postoffice, but to conditions throughout the south.

Following is a statement issued to the public by the committee just prior to adjournment:

"The chamber of commerce committee appointed to investigate complaints against the mail service, held a meeting Tuesday afternoon, September 12, and was in session for two hours. A good deal of interesting matter was received, and the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

"Another meeting will be held by the committee at an early date, and anyone having complaints to make against the postal service is requested to file them at the chamber of commerce within the next five days."

The Man Who Spent A Thousand

WHEN a man spends money he naturally feels that he should get some action for it. That was the way an elderly gentleman looked at it, too, when he called a few days ago to tell me what excellent health he was now enjoying. This elderly gentleman and I first became acquainted nearly a year ago when he came to me and told me the troubles he had had in trying to regain his health. He was 60 years of age and although he was comfortably fixed with enough money to enjoy the balance of his life he was too miserable to enjoy anything. He said he had been suffering for years, and that for the past five years he had been doctoring with various physicians and had spent a thousand dollars or more. He was then worse off than ever. He was so nervous that he could not rest at night, and he had a multitude of pains. I found him suffering from a stricture and also from an aggravated case of prostatic irritation. He explained that he had thought of coming to see me many times, as he had been an interested reader of my talks for quite awhile. But each time there was some physician who would discourage him from consulting me. Finally, he determined to see me anyway. Although he lived a considerable distance from Atlanta, he made frequent trips here; after the first few days he remained in Atlanta and each time he said he was getting better. Now, when he calls on me to say how fine he is getting along, he is enjoying the best health in years. The physicians who treated him for five years probably were honest. But evidently they lacked the experience to correctly diagnose and treat such a delicate case. I was able to do this because I have been studying and specializing in diseases of men, nervous disorders and chronic diseases for more than a third of a century. That's why I KNOW these diseases and why I say I can cure any case which CAN be cured. My office hours are 8 to 7; Sundays and holidays, 10 to 1. My monographs are free by mail in plain, sealed wrapper. Consultation is free, too.

capitol of the state, and that favoring the direct primaries act, were carried by large majorities, according to returns at hand tonight.

Statement by Mrs. Stevens.

Mrs. L. M. Stevens, president of the National W. C. T. U., made the following statement tonight:

"On September 9, England cabled: 'Hold the fort, the world watches.'

"We have held the fort against the terrible assaults of the united forces of the liquor makers, liquor sellers and their allies and the world will rejoice.

"The remarkable campaign just closed has revealed that there is world-wide interest, not only in total abstinence, but in prohibition, and the day of final overthrow of the liquor traffic has been hastened."

No Concession by "Wets"

Frederick G. Fassett, secretary of the Maine Non-Partisan Local Option League, said:

"We do not concede that the amendment has been re-affirmed. There has been so much contradiction in the returns that we do not know what the result is. We shall wait for the official canvass of the voters at that time shall decide whether to take steps to secure an inspection of the ballots."

TOUR OF GEORGIA NATIONAL AFFAIR

represented in the Tour Around Georgia has been announced in The Arkansas Democrat, published in Little Rock. The Democrat gives the following account of the entry from that city:

"Little Rock will have a car in the 'Around Georgia Tour,' which will be run in Georgia soon, according to W. L. Tedford and Frank Williams, of the Tedford Auto Company, of this city.

"Mr. Tedford and Mr. Williams will drive the entire distance from Little Rock to Atlanta in an Overland car, and will enter the 'Around Georgia Tour,' making the complete circuit of the state, ending at Savannah for the races.

"Mr. Williams is in receipt of a letter from Frank G. Corker, of Dublin, Ga., treasurer of the tour committee, advising him that the Little Rock car can be entered in the race and that all the advertising possible may be done on the tour.

"Mr. Tedford and Mr. Williams will drive through the country, advertising Little Rock and Arkansas en route to Atlanta, and on the tour, which will be the most comprehensive yet undertaken in the Cracker State, there will be plenty to remind the Georgians that Arkansas is also interested in good roads.

"It is the hope of Mr. Tedford and Mr. Williams to secure much valuable information while on this tour that will be useful in organizing a 'round-the-state tour for Arkansas in the near future for the purpose of boosting the good roads movement.

Treasurer Corker, of the tour committee, writes that the roads are in excellent condition, that there is great enthusiasm all along the line. He has just completed a trip over the route in The Atlanta Constitution's scout car, the Thomas Flyer."

CHIEF JUSTICE JONES IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

Lancaster, S. C., September 12.—The following statement is made by Chief Justice Ira B. Jones, who on yesterday forwarded his resignation, effective in January, to the governor:

by the hand and remarked that he did not wish to be misunderstood. Governor O'Neal later said that he had stepped to the piazza to meet Mrs. O'Neal, who he had heard was there.

O'Neal Didn't Mince Words.

There was no mincing of words in the Alabaman's denunciation of the initiative, referendum and recall. "There is a movement which seems to be gathering strength in certain sections of the country," he said, "that tends to weaken rather than to strengthen executive authority, and that is the system of initiative, referendum and recall. The governor has no power to veto or amend a law initiated by the people and adopted by referendum. If the law is in violation of the constitution, invades vested rights or destroys individual liberty, the only remedy can be found in the courts, and where the system of recall of judges prevails, overthrowing, as it does, the independence of the judiciary, the courts would degenerate into tribunals organized chiefly to register popular judgment on all legal questions."

It was pleasing to know, he added, that this "insiduous popular vagary" will meet with the almost unanimous opposition of the American bar.

Governor Wilson Replies.

Governor Wilson did not reply until several western governors had spoken. "It seems to me," he said, "anent the question of the initiative and referendum, it is necessary that we carry the analysis a little further than it has been carried. A very important thing, a fundamental thing is the source of the law. Some of the laws that we have are bad laws and they are bad for the reason that there is a suspicion as to their source. The people of the United States want their governors to be leaders in matters of legislation because they have serious suspicion as to the source of the legislation and they have a serious distrust of their legislatures.

"What I would urge as against the views of Governor O'Neal is that there is nothing inconsistent between the strengthening of the powers of the executive and the direct power of the people." He spoke of the caprice of the majority. "I have known of instances of the caprice of the mob," he said, "but I have never known of any instance where the vote of the population was spoken of as a caprice.

"I don't believe there is any distrust of the fundamental principles of democracy. I believe we are all democrats if we use a small 'd.' I believe that Governor O'Neal feels as Governor McGovern feels, and that we are merely at odds as to the best method of giving expression with reference to that great public opinion upon which all depends."

As Governor Wilson sat down Governor O'Neal sprang to his feet and proclaimed the reiteration of his belief.

"I would rather stand with Madison and Hamilton," he concluded after outlining what he believed the menace of the measures, "than to stand with some modern prophets and some of our western statesmen."

The discussion following Governor O'Neal's address consumed the entire afternoon session.

Among the speakers was Governor Kitchin, of North Carolina. Tonight the governors and their wives were guests of Governor and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson at the state cottage at Sea Girt.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

he has gone at advertising in a haphazard way, running an announcement here and there, without following any DEFINITE plan, and naturally, he does not get any results — he cannot expect them. A "HIT-OR-MISS" ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN IS USUALLY A FAILURE.

The thing to do before starting an advertising campaign is to STUDY the situation from all viewpoints.

SERIOUS CONSIDERATION must be given to the preparation of copy, then the question of media taken up, the class of people they reach, etc., THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATED; the amount of money to be expended decided upon and THE WAY IN WHICH IT IS TO BE EXPENDED, carefully planned.

THEN GO AHEAD ON THIS PLAN AND FOLLOW IT OUT WHETHER RESULTS COME IMMEDIATELY OR NOT.

A business is not builded in a day, or a week, or a month, and IT TAKES TIME, as well as constant and unremitting effort BEFORE THE REAL EFFECT OF ADVERTISING CAN BE FELT.

Advertising is a BUSINESS PROPOSITION, pure and simple. If a merchant approaches it with faith, and is willing to build CAREFULLY and in accordance with his means, using conservative space, and using it REGULARLY and PERSISTENTLY, then there will be no question about the success of the campaign.

THERE IS A SUCCESS that comes to the reputable merchant and manufacturer THAT CANNOT BE ATTAINED EXCEPT BY ADVERTISING — a business success that cannot be obtained in any other way.

AN ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN that is founded on COMMON SENSE and INTEGRITY—that is followed PERSISTENTLY—WILL BRING RESULTS.

FRIENDS OF NEW CHARTER MEET IN THE SEVENTH WARD

As a preliminary toward the organization of the Seventh Ward Club over sixty-two advocates of the new charter met last night at the home of Craig Cofield on Gordon street, in West End.

The meeting was enthusiastic throughout. Each of the sixty-two members pledged his hearty support, and offered to render his services in any capacity that might benefit the new plan.

Each member present promised to enlist another member, and before the close of the week the membership of the organization will be trebled.

W. A. Foster was elected temporary chairman, and and Major B. B. Cross, permanent chairman, Craig Cofield was selected as vice-chairman, and E. C. Merry as secretary.

The executive committee was selected as follows: W. B. Disbro, W. A. Foster, J. Cheston King, W. B. Willingham, A. C. McHan, W. H. Arnold and W. F. Wesley.

Resolutions were adopted authorizing the executive committee to select the time and place for an early ward rally. Arrangements for this occasion were placed in the committee's charge. This rally is expected to be one of the biggest of the kind ever held in Atlanta.

An active campaign for the new charter's benefit begin this morning.

The following were those present at the meeting whose names have been enrolled as members of the club:

Craig Cofield, W. P. Heath, W. Y. Wesley, J. Chester King, W. H. Arnold, W. W. Snodgrass, Arthur Merrill, J. M. Arnold, W. M. Francis, J. D. Frazier, St. Elmo Massengale, A. R. Colcord, W. A. POLICE COURT FEATURES, SOME VERY UNIQUE CASES

There was some very unique cases tried in the police court Tuesday morning.

There was J. W. Jones, a negro deacon in the Salem Baptist church, who left $48 of church money at his home, 191 Connally street, when he went to divine worship Sunday night. When he got back the money was gone, and upon suspicion he had one of his brothers arrested. The brother was tried in the police court Tuesday morning, and as the suspicion was withdrawn, the case was dismissed.

A New Kind of Blackmail.

There was the case of Bob Glover, a negro who works for L. G. Adler's Toggery Shop on Peachtree street, who was charged with stealing a shirt. His employer begged that he be not punished, as the stealing had been done under "extraordinary circumstances" and would teach Bob such a lesson as to make him refrain from stealing ever afterwards. Bob told of the extraordinary stealing and said that he had borrowed $5 from another negro and had been so hounded down and threatened about the debt that life had become to him a burden and a torment. The man he borrowed from offered to "let up" and give him more time if he would secure for him a new shirt. So Bob stole the shirt to get rid of being dunned. He was allowed to go on probation.

Did the Peeping Act.

There was Robert Ellis, a young white man, who works for the Georgia railroad in the Inman Yards, who was charged with standing near the stairway that leads from the Whitehall street viaduct to Wall street and peeping at the ankles of ladies as they walked up and down the stairway. He made a strong plea of innocence, but as the policeman swore that he had watched him doing the "Peeping Tom" act for fully ten minutes, the recorder entered a fine of $15.75.

Had a Joy Ride.

There was Will Daniel, a negro messenger boy, who was sent to the home of John McMillian, near the river, to get the latter's horse and buggy and drive to W. O. Jones' livery stable. Will got the team, invited two Darktown belles to take a ride and then drove the horse unmercifully around the city for three hours. The horse was nearly dead when recovered and may be permanently injured. Will was fined $25.75.

WEST PRESIDES IN ATHENS COURT

Col. Shackelford Does Not Appear and No Rumpus Ensues.

County Commissioners Will Be Called Upon to Decide Who Is Legally Authorized Judge. Shackelford States That He Has Received His Commission.

Athens, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Judge Henry West held court this morning as judge of the city court of Athens. Colonel T. J. Shackelford, appointed by Governor Smith to succeed Judge West, did not enter the court room, but passed through the clerk's office and on to his office in the city. It is understood that a restraining order, signed by Judge Brand several days ago, would have been served upon him had he attempted to occupy the bench or preside over the court. Judge West stated that he will continue to hold court as it may be necessary to do so, rendering a decision in a suit against the city this morning and hearing several other criminal cases in which the defendants waived jury trial.

The decision in the damage suit was the refusal to grant a new trial in the case of Holliday against the city, in which Frank C. Shackelford, a brother of the attorney who was appointed to succeed Judge West, was attorney for the city. The decision was signed last night at 11:57 o'clock, the attorneys for the city and for the plaintiff requesting that the matter might be closed before the moment when the new term begins and the old term of the judge ended.

Colonel Shackelford stated today the court presided over by Judge West this morning was illegal and the actions of that alleged court invalid. He stated that he will hold court at the time for the regular November term. Heretofore the city court has been in session at any time to convenience those interested—the adjourned terms from day to day being held all along during the month, and almost daily there are cases in which misdemeanor defendants plead guilty or waive jury trial to prevent remaining for weeks in jail.

Commission Received.

It was reported here this morning by one of the attorneys in court that the commission to Colonel Shackelford had never been delivered. The press representative asked Colonel Shackelford concerning this report and states positively that he has received his commission from the governor. When he was asked if he had qualified he stated that he had not, but that he would preside over the regular November term of the city court.

The county commissioners, who pay the salary of the judge, however, will be called upon to either decide who is the legally authorized judge or to withhold the payment of the salary of judge till it is determined in some manner who is entitled to the amount—$166 a month now, since the amount was reduced from $3,000 a year.

There is a likelihood, too, that acts of Judge West will be called into question as to their validity—acts officially done since midnight last night. It is not known when Colonel Shackelford will qualify. He states that he has his commission and that he may take the oath before any officer authorized to administer it, but he does not even intimate when he propose to thus qualify for the duties of the office, suggesting, however, that it will be before the date of the regular November term of the court.

AMERICUS FIGHTS FOR LOCAL TRAIN

Doesn't Want to Hurt Savannah, But Must Have the Shoo-Fly.

Americus, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—At a meeting under the auspices of the Americus Board of Trade tonight, attended by all of the leading business interests, the matter relative to the operation of the local train from Columbus to Helena via Americus was thoroughly threshed out. Business men present recalled the fight that Americus made to secure the establishment of this local train for the benefit of the people of this section, the merchants here entering into an agreement with the Seaboard at the time to give to that railroad the greater part of their freight in exchange for this train as a trade-producer for the city.

Bankers present stated that telegrams received by them from Savannah stated that it was not the purpose there to interfere with the schedules so far as Americus is concerned, but the meeting was unable to see how the train could be operated to make the through northern connections advocated by Savannah without such alteration of existing schedules as would seriously impair the value of the train to this city and section.

Resolutions were adopted protesting to the Georgia railroad commission and the Seaboard officials against any interference with the schedule on which this local train is now operated. Kindly sentiments were expressed for Savannah and one section of the resolution is as follows:

"Resolved further, That it is not the sense or desire of this meeting to hamper Savannah in any efforts to promote its interests or bring betterments in railroad or mail service wherein such efforts are not as in this instance apparently destructive to the interests of the business men and public generally of this part of the state. The attitude assumed by this meeting and by the public of this section is merely that of protection of a service that was established primarily for them through their efforts and which is vital to their interests."

BLACKSHEAR GUARDS PLAN OUTDOOR CAMP

Dublin, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The Blackshear Guards, the first company that left Laurens county for the war, has twenty survivors, and Major T. D. Smith and General Hardy Smith are planning to be hosts at a reunion on October 4, that will last for four days.

It is the plan to use tents and camp out at the point on Turkey creek near Blue Water church, where the Wrightsville and Tennille bridge is located. Fishing there is fine, and the old survivors can fish to their hearts' content.

KOCH TO TRAIN ROAD ENGINEERS

Chancellor Names Member of Class of 1904 as Assistant to Strahan.

Athens, Ga., September 12.—(Special.) Pursuant to recent action of the board of trustees of the university, authorizing the naming of an assistant to Professor Charles S. Strahan in his highway engineering work, Chancellor Barrow has announced that he will name John C. Koch, of the class of 1904, for the position. Mr. Koch is Professor Strahan's choice for the position.

He had an exceptional record while in the university, and has had several years of experience in road and bridge building, having constructed over 200 miles of road for the government in the Philippine Islands.

The coming of Mr. Koch means that the road-building work being done by the engineering department of the university will be greatly extended, and that the training of road engineers under intelligent direction will be an important part of the university's work in future.

MISS LINTON SUCCEEDS ORR

Prudential Committee of State Normal Will Formally Elect Her Today.

Athens, Ga., September 12.—(Special.) The prudential committee of the State Normal school will meet today in regular meeting to attend to several matters which will come before it. The resignation of Prof. Fred J. Orr, head of the department of manual arts, will be accepted and Miss Annie Linton, assistant in the department of manual arts, will be selected to take his place.

Miss Linton is a member of one of the old prominent families of Athens and the state, a sister of Tax Receiver Hal Linton, who has been in his office for the past twenty-five years and more. She has been in the school for a number of years and has just returned from a summer trip on which she made special study in some of the most eminent schools of the world along the line she will have in hand. Professor Orr has not announced his plans as yet.

The committee consists of State School Superintendent M. L. Brittian, President Shackelford, of the board of trustees; Col. W. J. Morton, of Athens; E. J. Bondurant, of Athens, and Chancellor D. C. Barrow, of the university.

SAYS 5 CHILDREN STOLEN FROM HOME

Mother Writes Recorder She Believes Husband Brought Tots to Atlanta.

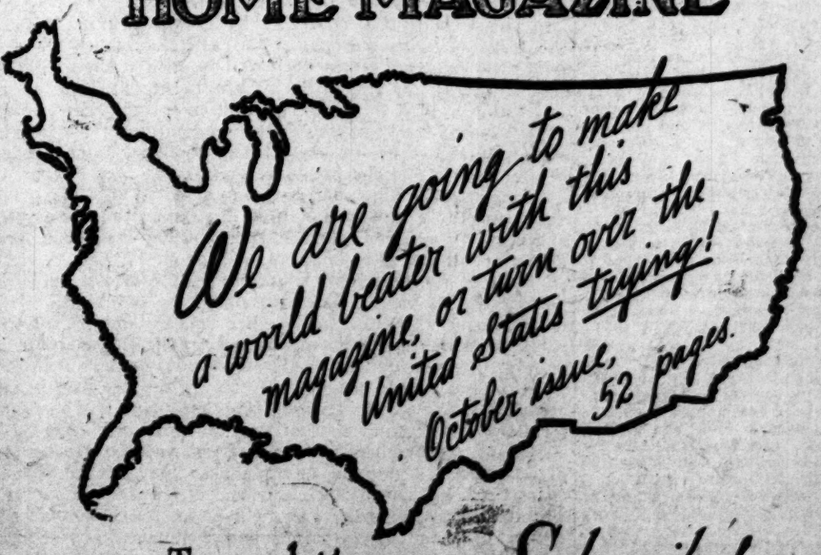

Recorder Nash R. Broyles has been appealed to by a distracted mother in Florida, who claims that her five little children have been stolen from her by her husband.

The appeal came from Mrs. J. H. Gardner, of Bartow, Fla., in a letter which was written on September 8.

Mrs. Gardner states to the recorder that her five children—three girls, aged 7, 11 and 13, and two boys, aged 2 and 4 years—have been carried off from their home in Bartow, Fla., and that she has reason to believe that they have been brought to Atlanta and placed in some kind of school or charity home. She says her children are named Susan, Mattie, Bettie, Paul and Thurman. She claims that they were taken from home Friday night, September 1, and taken to Jacksonville, and from there to Atlanta. She says she believes that her husband, who has disappeared, has carried the children away.

The recorder has placed the matter in the hands of the city police.

An epoch in Texas journalism is marked by the special industrial edition of The San Antonio Express, just issued from the press of this aggressive exponent of the greatness of the "Lone Star State." The issue embraces 132 pages. From first page to last, it is a challenging compendium of the resources of Texas, from the commercial, industrial and industrial standpoints. John R. Lunsford, editor of The Express, has left no idea undeveloped and no stone unturned that would chronicle what southwest Texas has achieved and what that vast empire is certain to accomplish. He has skillfully assigned his staff—one of the most efficient in the south—to the mission of dramatizing Texas—its progress to date, what it offers the investor, its destiny as seen from a bewildering array of natural assets being materialized by the masterful genius that has come to be identified with the giant among American commonwealths. Editor Lunsford has laid the south and the country and, especially Texas, under obligations for reducing to accessible form the myriad gifts and inducements with which that state bids for international prestige. In effect, the special industrial edition is a handbook on Southwest Texas, edited by men whose ability is spurred by keen loyalty and a firsthand knowledge of the broad subject with which they deal. The generous illustrations complete the well-conceived and executed designs of presenting an accurate portrait of Texas life, at a time when the attention of the nation is focused on the southern states as never in their history.

NOW TOGETHER FOR ATLANTA.

The registration books for the charter election of September 27 have closed.

From present indications the number of voters qualified will set a new precedent for municipal elections. During the past two days the rush to register has been especially heavy.

These facts mean just one thing—that Atlanta will accept the new charter by an overwhelming vote.

To make that assurance doubly sure, let every Atlantan who realizes the need of efficient government in this city constitute himself a personal apostle for the new charter.

Politicians interested in clinging to jobs, in thwarting the desire of the average man to rule the city must not be given the slightest pretext to claim that the election leaves public sentiment in doubt. There must be a tidal wave of votes for the new organic law that provides a business administration for metropolitan Atlanta.

Opposition to the charter has not a sound leg to stand on, for even the politicians opposing the new charter have time and again agreed upon the necessity for a change.

Here is the change given them. It is not revolutionary. It preserves the tried checks and balances of the old system. But it wipes out the bickerings, the clashing jurisdiction of the old system that immersed every solitary department of the city government in politics; that made politics, and not business, the motive power of the corporation of Atlanta in which the smallest tax-payer is a stockholder.

Now the city has a chance to eliminate the very evils that even the politicians concede must be eliminated! The opponents of the charter cannot bring one reasonable objection against it, for it gives a square deal to the working man, the small home-owner, the average man! They fall back on subterfuge. They use gum-shoe methods. It is even said they are striving, desperately, to line up the city's employees—the men paid to serve you—against the very system these employees have most to gain by validating.

That to one side! It is only necessary to warn the sensible Atlantan against plausible arguments, rising in selfishness and distortion.

A vote for the charter is a vote for Atlanta! Let us make the ratification overwhelming!

ADDING $10 TO THE BALE.

Practical wisdom speaks in the recommendation of the live stock committee of the National Farmers' Union Convention, just adjourned at Shawnee, Okla., in the following statement:

"One million additional milch cows and an equal number of mother sows properly distributed through the south would easily add $10 per bale to the price of the cotton crop."

Suppressing gambling on the New York Cotton Exchange is a matter of tremendous importance to the farmers of the southern states. It is to be doubted if it ranks, in ultimate effect, the business urgency of diversification.

It has been testified, from reliable sources, that Georgia annually sends more money outside the state for food supplies than she receives for her cotton crop. In other words, the farmers of Georgia, despite growing diversification, still lay a heavy mortgage on their chief product for the food supplies that can be raised in abundance on Georgia acres.

As an inevitable consequence, the proceeds from a $60 or $70 or $75 bale of cotton must be "shaved" by a big amount—probably more than $10—to pay a bill that should be nonexistent.

The live stock committee of the Farmers' Union has laid a finger on one of the main sources of leakage in our southern agricultural system.

It should be plugged—and that, forthwith! It is essential to go after the men far away who conspire to depress the price of cotton.

What about the men who raise the cotton itself, and who, each year, voluntarily sacrifice a slice of their profits by failing in the simple business detail of producing home supplies?

DEMOCRACY'S INSURGENT "ALLIES."

At a recent banquet given by the republican "insurgents" of Minnesota at Minneapolis, Congressman Lenroot, of Wisconsin, launched a very large, aggressive and pugnacious presidential boom for Senator La Follette.

Which is well—for the democracy.

The Constitution confesses to a very genuine admiration of the brilliant fighting Senator La Follette. With all of his doctrines we may not be in accord; but with fearless battle against special privileges, and with his stubborn adherence to principle, as he understands the word, we find only the liveliest sympathy.

But we cannot conceive that he has more than a conjectural chance to figure as the presidential nominee, much less as a successful aspirant to the presidency itself. It may be that the wing of the party of which he is the undisputed head is planning far ahead for the campaign of 1916. So far as the campaign of next autumn is concerned, their chances of naming their party's candidate are in the ratio of about one to one hundred.

Out of the situation, however, rises comfort and strength to the democratic party. The attitude of the republican "insurgents" is increasingly that of men who, sulking and rebelling against party discipline, are carrying knives up their sleeves for that contingent of the republican organization now nominally in the saddle.

Conditions will not be bettered by the president's impending invasion of the west. Its very announcement has been the signal for fiery outbursts from that very portion of his organization he is seeking to conciliate. "No quarter!" appears to be the slogan of La Follette, Cummins, et al. They may not be, indeed, it appears they will not be, able to prevent the re-nomination of Taft. But it also appears that they will be obstacles in his pathway at every turn, and that their support, should he safely negotiate the convention, will be of the most perfunctory description.

In brief, the republican party is split wide open, and the breach shows no signs of healing. Meanwhile, democracy cohesiveness is pronounced as it has not been in sixteen years, and there is reason to believe that the party will merge from the regular session of congress with added strength for the combat of the fall months.

Size of Crop Overestimated.

Editor Constitution: I wish to combat an erroneous impression that has gone abroad that there will be a large cotton crop produced this year, which false impression is made by the large size of the weed of the cotton. Close observation will show but little fruit of the stalks. This is caused by too extravagant use of commercial fertilizer, especially nitrate of soda. Coupled with the heavy rains in the last two months, this has produced an unusually large weed. And now the great enemy of the cotton plant, the catterpillar, has made its appearance in full force, destroying all the cotton excepting the matured bolls.

There will certainly be no top crop. In a few weeks' time the cotton fields will be stripped of their foliage, and nothing left but the bare cotton stalk.

Government Nearer the People.

(From The Macon Telegraph.)

Prohibition and local option may be discussed academically by candidates and their friends who may wish to do so, but for the reasons set forth a number of times in these columns those questions cannot become live issues in the approaching campaign for the gubernatorial short term. It is not the time for the local optionists to make a fight, because, obviously, if they should win a victory it would be a barren one; if they lost, their day and opportunity would be postponed.

The one general and overshadowing issue in this campaign is—bring the government of the people back to the people.

In a representative government the people's representatives, at stated periods named by law, are selected by the people to represent them in the three co-ordinate branches—the executive, the legislative and the judicial. The people select these three branches, each supposedly free from the domination of the others. Not since Treutlen to the present day (except quite recently) has a governor ever gone into a committee room of the legislature and lectured and threatened the people's representatives. The governor has the right, and it is his duty, to make recommendations by public messages—this is required so that the people may know what he is doing; but to go into a shut-door conference is a thing that is unprecedented, and dangerous to the rights of the people.

The right of primary expression is the same as the right of petition. It IS the right of petition, as in cases of primaries for United States senator. This right of petition to the legislature was denied the people. Liquor laws obnoxious to a large per cent of the people were passed, and the right of an expression of opinion on the subject was denied the people. By a manipulation too tedious to recount at length here, the present governor was elected by a doubtful majority of those voting, and by less than one-third of the manhood white vote of the state.

These things show that we are ruled by an oligarchy and not a democracy. The issue is—

Bring the government of the people back to the people.

JUST A FEW MORE EXAMPLES OF POST OFFICE "ECONOMY"

Colonel B. F. McLaughlin, of Greenville, Ga., one of the most prominent attorneys of Meriwether county, was in Atlanta yesterday on business.

Colonel McLaughlin is one of those good, old-fashioned husbands, who, when away from home, write to their wives every day.

"I have just called around," said he "to congratulate The Constitution upon what it is doing for a better mail service. I have had some experience myself along this line and if something is not done to straighten out the demoralization of the mail service of this division, there is no telling what will become of it.

"Now I write a letter to my good wife every day when I am away from home," said Colonel McLaughlin. "Some days ago I was up here in Atlanta and the last thing I did every night before going to bed was to write a letter to my wife and post it in the mail box. Imagine my surprise when I got home four days later to find that the three letters I mailed in Atlanta on three separate days all bore the mailing postmark of the last day's letter, and all three of them got home just one day before I did.

"It is this sort of mail service that is fatiguing the patience of the public and I hope that something will be done to protect us from any more of it."

THREE DAYS TO DELIVER LOCAL SPECIAL DELIVERY LETTER.

Three days for the delivery of a special delivery letter illustrates again the slackness with which Atlantans are served by the postoffice department. The communication in question not only carried special delivery stamps, but it was addressed to a man who is so well known that a letter would eventually reach him if it were addressed to him merely with "Georgia, United States," on the envelope.

Late Monday, Dr. Len G. Broughton received a special delivery letter which had been mailed to him on Saturday, an important communication evidently, as shown by it being sent by special delivery. Yet it took three days for it to reach him, and, to add to the preposterous aspect of the delay, the letter was mailed within the city.

It did not even go outside of Atlanta—or, at least, should not have gone. Where it spent the three days is not known, certainly not in the mile's distance between the office and Dr. Broughton's study.

LETTER TAKES FIVE DAYS TO TRAVEL TWO BLOCKS.

From the Peters Building to Govan's cigar store, at Pryor and Alabama streets, is just two short blocks if you wish to walk it, but by mail—it is close to a five-day journey.

On September 6, A. A. Craig, at 416 Peters Building, mailed a letter to J. R. Davies, who is employed at the Govan cigar store. Mr. Craig directed the envelope with a typewriter:

"J. B. Davies, Ala. & Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga."

On September 11, Mr. Davies received the letter. On the back of the envelope was a postoffice stamp of September 9, while on the front was one of September 6. Also across the front of the letter was stamped in red ink, "Returned for Better Address." In one corner of the envelope at the bottom was the advice, "Try Govan's, 19 Peachtree street," and further over the envelope bore the further endorsement, "Repeated."

Now the strangest part of this story, to Mr. Davies' way of thinking, is the fact that he has been employed in that identical cigar store for slightly over seven years and knows almost everyone who works within a block of him on either hand. He says he'e curious to know just how the postman could get within two blocks of where the letter was directed and failed to find him.

WHAT HANDBOOKS URGED IN MAINE'S PROHIBITION FIGHT

Last Monday's election in Maine on the question of constitutional prohibition, after a trial of many years, excited more general interest than any state contest of recent years in the United States. More than any other state Maine has furnished arguments for both "wets" and "drys." As a matter of nation-wide interest, The Constitution reproduces the pre-election arguments of each side, as stated in their respective campaign handbooks.

They are as follows:

THE DRY SIDE.

The Real Issue.

"Vote, 'No,' and keep the liquor question under control of the people. Repeal of constitutional amendment would be understood by the Maine people and the Maine legislature and by the whole world to be a popular mandate for the repeal of statutory prohibition also, and the substitution of a high license law, with local option.

"The voters of Maine on September 11, through the direct question submitted to them is only whether the prohibition amendment of the constitution shall be repealed, are really to decide whether the prohibitory policy, maintained with but one short break since 1851, shall now be abandoned, and the rumselling for which hundreds have been fined and imprisoned as criminals, shall be legalized, and a larger or smaller share of its profits shall be accepted as legitimate tax by the state, with twenty fold offset in cost of drink and its consequences.

"No doubt the state legislature would allow local option, but the National Liquor Dealers' Association would fight for the legalizing of the saloon in every county and every town of Maine, just as they are now fighting to capture the state, and would capture, as in other states, not only cities, but smaller towns.

"Every year, or at frequent intervals, at great cost of time and money and social strife, a question long since put into the constitution as settled, namely, whether the liquor traffic is a legitimate business, would have to be reconsidered, and fought over against great odds, which would be as absurd as to reconsider annually emancipation of slaves or trial by jury.

"In some cities, the ignorant and the base in league with politicians, would license saloons, which would occupy, not attics and cellars and back rooms, but some of the locations now occupied by banks and dry goods houses, and would pay from one to two thousand dollars more rent than now, and as much more in license fees, all of which, they would collect, necessarily, by drawing at least so much more of the spending money of the people to a traffic that gives back nothing in 'comforts of life.'

"In the 'respectable' and legalized saloons not alone those now the slaves of appetite would drink, but young men of the best families would then begin the drink habit. Criminal drunks would increase fourfold, no doubt, as in New Hampshire, where a weaker prohibition was changed to high license and local option by the legislature. The taxes received would be but a mere fraction of the cost of drink, and of the crime and poverty it causes, and the lost industrial efficiency. It would be paying dollars for nickels so far as revenue is concerned.

"But many smaller cities and towns also would probably be captured by the ceaseless efforts of the liquor traffic. The rum-sellers would hold on to their rents, even when a town voted 'dry,' as in other states, and by a process of lawless terrorism, added to bribery, constrain the voters to restore them. Meantime there would be, as in all license states, as many speak-easies as there are in Maine in periods of official perjury and non-enforcement.

"The theory that by forbidding a wrong more harm is done through law-breaking and official perjury than if it was legalized should be met by that eternal axiom:

"'Right Wrongs No Man.'

"The escape from liquor lawlessness is not in surrender, but in persistent fighting till this habitual criminal is conquered here and everywhere.

"Meantime, three things promise better law enforcement in the future. 1. This great campaign of education if followed by a reaffirmation of prohibition will put behind the law a stronger public sentiment. 2. As putting prohibition into the constitution takes it out of state politics, the new non-partisan 'commission plan' of local government, now sweeping the country, promises to take out of local politics by providing non-partisan officers to enforce it. 3. There is good prospect of relief by the passage of an interstate liquor law in congress.

"If a majority votes 'No' on September 11, Maine will promote every moral and material interest of the state, and 'lead' the world once more in a new advance toward a higher and happier social life."

THE WET SIDE.

The Only Issue.

"A 'yes' vote restores rule of the people.

"Repeal of amendment does not repeal prohibitory law.

"The voters of Maine in September are to decide whether prohibition shall be taken out of the constitution of the state. That is the only question in relation to prohibition to be voted upon.

"Repealing the prohibition amendment to the constitution does not repeal the liquor law.

"Maine had prohibitory laws for nearly forty years before the prohibitory amendment was added to the constitution.

"All the laws passed by the legislature to prevent the sale of liquor will be in force after the repeal of the amendment.

"Taking the amendment out of the constitution does not in any manner change the prohibitory laws.

"But if the amendment is taken out of the constitution, the legislature can change the liquor law, subject to the approval of the peple.

"The legislature, for example, can pass a local option law. Today the legislature could not do that because the constitution forbids it.

"But the legislature cannot impose a law upon the people against their will. The people have the veto power. If they do not want to accept a local option law passed by the legislature, they can vote it down under the referendum.

"In that case all the present statewide prohibitory laws remain in force.

"If the legislature passes a local option law and it is accepted by the people, Maine will continue to have prohibition with the town and city as the unit instead of with the state as the unit.

"Communities which want prohibition will get it in more effective form than they have it today.

"Communities in which public sentiment does not support prohibition will have the power to honestly and efficiently regulate the liquor traffic under a system that limits the number of licenses.

"The people of each community will have under local option the right to determine whether they will or will not have prohibition.

"Local option thus restores to the people the right of local self-government.

"Those who oppose local option take the ground that the people of the different communities in the state of Maine cannot be trusted to manage their own affairs.

"Those who favor local option declare that the people of Maine towns and cities are capable of intelligently settling local questions in accordance with general laws passed by the legislature.

"But the people are not to vote on local option in September. They are to vote on the question of repealing the prohibitory amendmentt o the state constitution.

"If the amendment is repealed the present liquor laws are still in force but the legislature may change them and establish local option if the people want it.

"If the amendment is not repealed, the state-wide prohibitory system cannot be abandoned. It must be continued not only in places where prohibition is a success but in all other places in the state."

DR. MORGAN REGISTERS PLEA FOR BROAD CHRISTIAN UNITY

In an earnest, eloquent and inspiring address, which was a strong plea for universal brotherhood among all churches, Dr. G. Campbell Morgan yesterday for 55 minutes held the tense attention of one of the largest audiences that the Tabernacle has had since the opening of the dedicatory service. Dr. Morgan went straight to the heart of Christianity, and gave a vision of the church of God as it will be in days to come, a church in which all ecclesiastical differences will be lost in that unity of spirit which formed the theme of his sermon.

As a scriptural reading, Dr. Morgan chose Paul's first letter to the Corinthians, chapter 12, bringing out the idea of universal kinship in Christ. As a preface to his sermon he read chapter 4 of the letter to the Ephesians, which again brought out the idea of one body and one spirit in the church, one faith, one baptism, one God and one Father over all.

Again Discusses Modern Criticisms.

After summarizing the theme of Monday's address, Dr. Morgan proceeded to relate the subject of the morning's discourse to the previously discussed topic, "Modern criticisms of the church." His main theme was conveyed in the behest of Paul to diligently "keep the unity of the spirit in the bonds of peace." He drew attention to the idea that Paul does not insist that uniformity of body or unanimity of mind be maintained, but that he does insist upon the keeping of the unity of the spirit.

And this, said Dr. Morgan, is the chief responsibility of the churches. There has been too much effort, he declared, to bring about a uniformity of the body of the church, of ecclesiastical organizations, unanimity of mind with the result that the vital thing, the maintaining of the unity of the spirit of the church, has been neglected.

"Finite souls can not secure such uniformity of the body of the church," said he, "until they are perfected in Christ." He drew attention to the subtle meaning of the word "keep" as used in the particular sentence under discussion, declaring that in its connection with the text it did not carry the idea of military guarding of the spiritual unity, nor of argumentative defense.

"It means to keep in view, to observe, in the root sense of the word," said Dr. Morgan in effect. "Nor does Paul say 'create or restore' the unity of spirit. It can not be created, because only God can create, and it can not be restored because it has never been lost.

"The church of God has never been divided," said the speaker. "Its unity of spirit has never been destroyed, nor can it be. In the body of the church there have been discords, but within the thought of God, the perfect unity of his church has remained intact.

"Continually," said Dr. Morgan, "I am growingly more careless of differences in ecclesiastics, and growingly I am more careful of the great catholic doctrine of unity in spirit. It doesn't matter that a man be Episcopalian or Congregationalist, so that he be one within the spirit of Christ's church. Ecclesiastical convictions should be merged in the spacious and magnificent unity of God's spirit and purpose.

Must Be Born of the Spirit.

"No man is a member of any church unless he be born of the spirit, and no rite or ceremony, no matter how holy in itself, can make him so. Mere patronage of Christ does not suffice."

The singing throughout the service was notably fine. The entire congregation united in powerful singing, whose volume almost equalled the swell of the big organ, and the people's participation was not only fervent but very musical.

Dr. Morgan will preach again Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

ORGAN DEDICATED AT TABERNACLE

More than four thousand people at the new Baptist Tabernacle last night listened enthralled for an hour while a master musician played upon the gigantic organ just completed in the beautiful sanctuary. The occasion was the dedication of the organ, and an eloquent address by Rev. Campbell Morgan, the eminent English divine, made it all the more impressive.

The organ is a massive instrument, the piping occupying the entire rear of the huge tabernacle. It is a masterpiece o fthe organ builders' art. Its purity of tone is equaled only by the greatness of its volume. The effects are perfect and the excellent accoustics of the building enable the performer to accomplish his pianissimo with remarkable effect.

Charles A. Sheldon, Jr., the organist, arranged a program for the dedication admirably suited for displaying the fine qualities of the instrument. His work was entirely artistic. The organist showed rare ability as an accompanist when Mrs. Sheldon sang "In the Night Shall My Song Be of Him," from the "Triumph of David."

In his dedicatory address Rev. Campbell Morgan said the magnificent instrument was devoted to the work of God. The speaker said he knew little about the technique of music, but he paid eloquent tribute to the genius of the organist and singer who had enthralled the vast audience with their precious gifts.

The first piece on the program, the introduction to the third act and "Bridal Chorus" (Lohengrin), he said reminded him of his wedding day. Rev. Campbell Morgan's address, which was extemporaneous and lamentably brief, was replete with humor, though at times he held his hearers spellbound with his eloquence.

After Dr. Morgan completed his address Dr. Broughton, acting for the members of the choir, presented Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon with a handsome silver dish, as a token of their appreciation of the talents of the two distinguished artists.

The Eyes of School Children

(Notice to Parents)

Your child cannot study hard, make a creditable showing and bring home a good report if they are handicapped by defective eyes.

Defects in children's eyes are nearly always unsuspected, and it is your imperative duty as parents to find out if glasses are needed.

Our fitting rooms are specially equipped for the examination of children's eyes and our opticians are competent to make a thorough and complete test.

You can bring the children after school hours, on a Saturday, or phone us for an appointment.

Our prices are very reasonable, and every pair of glasses guaranteed.

CITY NEWS

Thirty Auto Licenses Issued Each Day.—Secretary of State Phil Cook announced yesterday that up to date he has issued 10,600 automobile licenses. The licenses are being issued at the rate of about 30 per day with no indication of a decrease at any time soon.

Commissioner Candler in Brunswick.—Railroad Commissioner C. Murphy Candler has returned from Brunswick, where he represented the state in the arbitration of the valuation placed by the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad upon its terminal property in that city. The railroad's side of the case will be heard in Atlanta on Friday of next week.

Georgia Association for Blind to Meet.—The Georgia Association for the Blind is to hold a rally meeting in the convention hall at the Piedmont hotel Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock to make definite plans for carrying on the work and for opening a very energetic campaign in behalf of this work. The organizers urge the public to meet with them.

Mrs. Baker Reaches Home.—Mrs. Nora W. Baker, of Lucile avenue, who has been seriously ill at the residence of her son, Frank W. Baker, in Savannah, for a month past, reached home yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Baker. Mrs. Baker went to Savannah the latter part of July on a visit to her son, who is running between Savannah and Jacksonville, and while away was seized with typhoid fever. For several days her condition was considered desperate.

Funds for Corn Show.

LaGrange, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—In order to provide for the expense of premiums for the annual corn fair to be held in this city, November 22, a fund of $500 has been raised among the merchants of this city. The fair which will be held under the auspices of the chamber of commerce is to have for exhibits beside products of the soil, colts, chickens, hogs and numerous other Troup county products. The fair is being promulgated by Chairman Frank Longley, of the chamber fair committee, in conjunction with L. C. Davis, government farm demonstrator.

Drys Carry Morgan.

Decatur, Ala., September 12.—Unoffical returns, complete with the exception of three precincts, show today that the "drys" carried Morgan county yesterday by a majorityof 350, the vote standing: "Wet," 1,223 and "dry" 1,582.

Board of Arbitration Meets to Determine Value of Property in Brunswick.

Brunswick, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The board of arbitration to detemine the value of the south end property of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, was in the city yesterday and inspected the property of the road. Among those present at the inspection were Hon. Murphy Candler, of the railroad commission, representing the state; Preston Arkwright, named by the railroad; Colonel Fitzpatrick, of Atlanta, agreed on as the umpire; Colonel Rosser, general counsel for the road, all of Atlanta.

The board met at the city hall late yesterday afternoon and heard some evidence on the valuation of the property, and then adjourned to meet again in Atlanta on September 22.

The railroad, in making its returns to the state this year, valued its Brunswick property at $90,000, but according to the city assessment, the property should have been returned for about $600,000.

Mortgage Cancellation.

Moultrie, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Probably the record for cancellation of mortgages was made by Clerk of the Superior Court Clark last Friday when he cancelled from the records 139. This fact is unmistakable evidence that the farmers of the county are in better shape, owing to the volume of their cotton crops, than they have ever been before. The banks assert that their collections are better and more obligations met before maturity this year than ever in their business life. While the excessive rains cut the crop short, still the damage was not so severe as to cause any very great depreciation.

Commerce Schools Open.

Commerce, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The public schools of this city opened yesterday morning with an enrollment of 305 pupils. The school building had been overhauled, and several new class rooms added. The following compose the faculty: Luther Elred, superintendent; J. T. Coppedge, principal; Miss Bonnie Brock, 7th grade; Miss Carrie Lampkin, 6th grade; Miss Lydia Nix, 5th grade; Miss Willie Carson, 4th grade; Miss Carrie McGarity, 3rd grade; Miss Bessie Singleton, 1st grade; Miss Eunice Little, supply 1st and 2d grades; Mrs. M. F. Nelms, supernumerary; Mirs Fay Shannon, music; Mrs. E. H. Sanders, art; Miss Julia Belle McLeod, expression.

Diamonds Will Soon Advance $15.00 to $35.00 Per Carat

Since our present stock was bought there has occurred in the primary diamond market an advance which will necessitate retail dealers raising their prices from $15.00 to $35.00 per carat. This advance will apply on purchases made from the wholesalers at the advanced figures.

Our old prices are quoted to the world in our 1911 catalogue—exact weights and grades being given. These prices must necessarily be right, for if they were not, other dealers could easily cut under them.

We tell you frankly that we shall soon have to follow the advance, for our present stock will hardly last us through October.

It is a little more important to use good judgment in selecting your diamond dealer than it is in selecting your diamond. You are compelled to depend upon your dealer's grading to a great extent, for few people have the knowledge and skill to correctly grade diamonds.

All of our grades and weights are guaranteed; prices are marked in plain English, and we have but one price.

Selections sent anywhere on approval—all express charges paid.

Attractive deferred payments are allowed, and the only additional cost is six per cent simple interest on the amount deferred after one-fifth cash is deducted.

Write for our catalogue, and read our liberal guarantee and exchange contracts.

It will be wise to make your holiday selection now, and pay a little at a time.

ROBERTA FIRST TO PAY ON TOUR

Crawford County Doing Splendid Work on Her Roads.

Treasurer Corker Receives the First Check From That Enterprising Town---Committee to Meet September 19 and Make Prize Announcements.

Roberta, Crawford county's enterprising city, has the honor of being first to send in to Treasurer Frank G. Corker, of the Tour Around Georgia, a check for its subscription to the tour fund.

Treasurer Corker announces the receipt from Dr. J. E. L. Johnson, of Roberta, who guaranteed the subscription, of a check for $50. The amount of the subscription was in accord with what other cities and towns have subscribed on a basis of population, in addition to which it has been promptly forwarded to the treasurer of the committee.

If other cities and towns which have subscribed to the tour fund are anything like as prompt as Roberta the executive committee ror the tour will have no trouble in arranging and announcing its prize list when it meets in Atlanta on September 19.

Prizes To Be $3,500.

It is expected to announce prize awards for the tour aggregating $3,500.

Of this amount The Constitution has subscribed $1,000, the city of Dublin, on the Dublin route between Savannah and Atlanta, has given $500, and subscriptions aggregating $2,000 more are expected from cities and towns along the route of the tour. Most of these subscriptions have already been promised and will be paid, but promptness in the payment will be of great help to the executive committee in planning for the tour.

For this and other purposes the executive committee will hold a meeting in Atlanta September 19. In addition to announcing the prizes at that time, the rules will be settled upon and entry blanks prepared.

Crawford's Road Work.

Crawford county, which sends in the first subscription check, is one of the most enthusiastic on the route of the tour.

Prominent citizens of Crawford took leading part in the organization of the Andersonville-Thomasville Highway Association, which is a leading factor in the 1911 tour.

Not only that, but Crawford is building a good road entirely through the county all the way from Culloden, on the Monroe county line, to the Houston county line near Fort Valley.

Crawford's roads were formerly full of sandbeds. It was not that the people there was not wideawake to the value of good roads, but they were lacking somewhat in the means for extensive improvement. Recently, however, they determined to make a big stroke, and they began with a road extending entirely through the county and passing through Roberta. This road is now almost completed and will be one of the best pieces of road on the entire tour. It has been well surfaced with clay and built entirely by convict labor.

Author of Good Roads Bill.

Illustrative of Crawford's interest in road improvement, it was the representative fromthat county, Mr. LeSeur, who introduced and pushed in the last general assembly the bill permitting the counties of the state to levy four mills as a road tax, instead of two, as provided in the old law. This bill was passed and as a result of it any enterprising and progressive county in the state that wishes it may now double its good roads fund. Many counties are already taking advantage of the new law or have signified their intention of doing so when the next tax levy is made.

In Crawford county are located some of the best fruit and farm lands in the state and there is no question about the fact that the road improvement which Crawford is making will result in a greatly increased value for every acre of land that is put in reach of her good roads.

STEVENSON OUT FOR SOLICITOR GENERAL

Fourth Candidate to Announce for Place in Western Circuit.

Athens, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The fourth entry into the race for the solicitor general's place in the western circuit, for which Cliff Walker will not offer again, is announced tonight in the person of W. A. Stevenson, of Commerce. The other three candidates are: R. L. J. Smith, of Commerce; A. O. Nix, Lawrenceville, and John B. Gamble, of Clarke. The primary is a year off but the campaign is as vigorous as if the election were only a few weeks away. The entry of Stevenson is only the confirmation of a tentative announcement he made a year ago, immediately after the last election.

NO USE TO PASS LAWS---CANDLER

Judge Declares They Are Not Enforced, and Opposes Enacting New Ones.

"What is the use of passing any more laws?" Mayor Pro Tem John S. Candler asked a meeting yesterday afternoon of the ordinance committee of council.

The committee was about to consider several ordinances which members of council wished made into city laws.

"We have too many laws now," continued Judge Candler, who is an opponent of the new charter. "Just look at that recent law prohibiting the opening of muffler cut-outs on automobiles. Why, the autoists keep on opening the muffler cut-outs and not a single case has been made by the police."

Councilman Evins said that he had noticed about the police not enforcing the muffler cut-out ordinance.

Alderman Grant said he had noticed it.

Judge Candler called the attention of the committee to the fight he had made against the ordinance on the ground that it would not be enforced. He said when the ordinance was adopted an attempt was made to prohibit smoke from autos and but for a hard fight that law would also have been passed.

The committee fell into a discussion of laws in general and then made a few remarks about the new charter. It adjourned without acting on a single paper. The reason assigned was that Judge Candler was right about there already being too many laws.

CRUMLEY MURDER TRIAL ON IN JEFF DAVIS COURT

Defendant Is Indicted for the Killing of M. A. Grant Last April.

Hazlehurst, Ga., September 12—(Special.)—The case against W. I. Crumley, charged with murder, has been called in the superior court and the jury secured. The indictment charges Crumley with having killed M. A. Grant in the road near his home on the night of April 17 last. The state is represented by J. H. Thomas, solicitor general, and Colonel James R. Grant. The defendant is represented by Judge Echol Graham, of McRae; Judge J. C. Bennett and Colonel P. L. Smith, of this place. It promises to be a hard fought battle.

The next case of importance is the case of the State v. Boo Pittman, colored, charged with killing Elias Hinson. Feeling here is very high against Pittman. He would have been lynched at the time of the killing had the officers not rushed Pittman to the jail in Savannah.

TO BRACE RECORD IN LEASE PROTEST

Railroad Commission Will Accede to Smith's Request.

It Is Reported They Will Endeavor to Give Present Governor Record on Which to Attack Present Control of State's Transportation Property.

While no statement could be obtained, it is virtually certain that the railroad commission will strengthen the case against the lessees of the Western and Atlantic railroad along the lines urged by Governor Brown and again by Governor Smith.

The desire of the executive office as expressed by the former executive and his successor in office is to obtain a consistent record before undertaking to begin action to have the courts annul the existing lease.

It may be stated on reliable authority that the commission is of opinion that it can comply with Governor Smith's request and still remain within its legal limitations.

Should it do so it is probable that suit will be brought to compel the lessees to adopt through freight rates prescribed by the commission or in lieu thereof surrender its control of the property.

Both Governor Smith and Chairman Warner Hill, of the commission, are out of the city this week so that no action can be taken on the governor's request until the early part of next week.

The letter which the governor wrote the commission was dictated after he had held conferences with members of the commission, at which he decided that in order to make the record complete it would be necessary for the commission to point out to him certain specific instances in which the lessees of the state road are failing to comply with the provisions of the lease contract, which requires that no higher rate per ton per mile shall be charged on interstate shipments than is prescribed by the commission for intrastate shipments.

At the hearing which the commission held on this question some time ago it was charged that there are in the neighborhood of two hundred articles on which the railroad company is charging a higher rate than is provided for in the lease contract.

It is understood that the governor's position on this question is that the commission should specify certain instances wherein this higher rate is being charged and should also accompant it with some suggestions as to what course the governor should pursue in enforcing the lease contract, together with a statement of the rates that should be charged.

It is understood that members of the commission take the position that the proper course to pursue is for the governor to instruct the attorney general to file a bill in court to compel the company to abide by the provisions of the lease.

The lessees have taken the position that the railroad commission has no authority to fix interstate rates for the state road.

Admitting this to be true, for the sake of argument, members of the commission then take the position that the entire lease contract is null and void and that the company can either be compelled to enforce the contract or surrender the lease to the state, since the lease was made with the written provision that a certain fixed rate should be charged.

The commission takes the position, it is understood, that the question of the validity of the lease contract should be tested and it is generally believed the commission will so advise the governor.

PROCEEDINGS OF NINTH DIVISION ODD FELLOWS

Annual Convention of Body Will Be Held at Bowden September 26-27.

LaGrange, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Secretary G. E. Billinghurst, of the ninth division, Georgia Odd Fellows, has announced the proceedings for the annual convention which will be held at Bowden, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 26 and 27. This division embraces all the lodges in Troup, Meriwether, Coweta, Heard, Douglas, Carroll, Haralson and Heard counties.

Deputy Grand Master W. A. Abercrombie, of Draketown, is to preside over the meetings, the first to be called to order at 2:30 p. m. September 26. At 8 p. m. a public meeting will be held at the auditorium, and Rev. W. A. Maxwell, of Bowden, will deliver the address of welcome. Colonel E. S. Griffin, of Buchanan, will respond for the order. It is expected that Dr. L. B. Clark, of Atlanta, grand master of the I. O. O. F., of Georgia, will deliver the principal address of the meeting.

On the 27th at 8 p. m., the convention will assemble in secret session, when a contest for a cash prize and the division banner will be given. The contest will be for the best work in the third degree. It is expected that over 100 delegates will be present at the meeting.

Terrell County Tax.

Dawson, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The county commissioners, at their recent session, fixed the tax rate for the present year at $8 on the thousand, this being $1 per thousand higher than last year. In addition to this tax, the owners of property in this county will be required to pay a tax of 5 mills for school purposes, as the county board of education has fixed this, the maximum rate allowed by law, as the basis for taxation for support of the public schools of the county for the next scholastic year, together with certain amounts required to pay for new buildings and improvements added to other schoolhouses and equipments therefor.

AT THE RECEPTION

"Sorry you're going home so early, dear: I haven't had a chance to have the nice comfy little talk I had hoped for with you."

"I'm sorry, too, but little Alice has such a sore throat. I really shouldn't have come at all. I must go. Ned is waiting downstairs with the car. Good-bye, dear—"

"Good-bye; Say; that's a beautiful cloak you have on. Imported?"

"Oh! no. I bought the material at High's. They had photographs there showing just how to have them made. You wouldn't believe me, if I told you how little it cost."

"Do you trade there much?"

"Much? Why, I buy almost everything there. Ned's salary isn't so very big, you know, and we really must economize. Save! Yes indeed, I know one can do much better there, and the clerks are so courteous and so anxious to please. All right, Ned, I'm coming. Good-bye, dear. Yes, I'll be over soon again. Good-bye."

ILLITERATES IN FEDERAL PEN MUST LEARN THEIR A B C'S

Work of organizing a regular school for the illiterate inmates of the local federal prison was taken up Monday and would have been pushed forward to completion this week had it not been for the fact that a meeting of the parole board on yesterday interfered.

As was announced some time ago, Warden Moyer and other officials of the institution will, beginning next week, arrange for a regular school for the illiterate and the poorly educated inmates of the prison. The school will "keep" five afternoons each week and those who are lacking in rudimentary education will not only be permitted, but compelled, to go to school. They will be excused from work during the afternoons schoolholds.

It is expected that the regular work will begin next Monday with Chaplain T. C. Tupper in charge of the school. He will be assisted by some of the inmates of the prison, not a few of whom are college graduates. Warden Moyer will also make an effort to secure funds to hire a regular teacher at an early date.

Not only will those of the prisoners who are entirely illiterate, but those who would be in the first, second and third grades of a grammar school be given an opportunity to better fit themselves for work after their release by bettering their education. A regular course of study will be mapped out and followed closely when the school has become thoroughly organized.

Mr. Moyer states that the men are highly enthusiastic over the prospects of being given an opportunity to learn.

PROMINENT ATLANTANS AID TRAINING SCHOOL

Mrs. R. J. Lowry and A. V. Gude are among the recent contributors to the Atlanta Normal and Industrial Institute for training colored youths.

A few days ago Henry A. Inman sent a check from Maine to help the institution.

Rev. Richard D. Stinson, who is at the head of the school, says the doors will open Wednesday morning, September 27, and he urges that any person in his race who desires to better prepare themselves for their life work will enter the first day. Domestic science will be one of the strong features of the school. The school is badly in need of $750. Checks may be sent to Clark Howell, or to the Atlanta Normal and Industrial Institute, 78 Griffin street, Atlanta, Ga.

Leaves for Atlanta.

Mount Airy, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—W. A. McConnell, a pioneer citizen and merchant of Mount Airy, left for Atlanta today. Mr. McConnell has been ill for some time, and he will enter some hospital in the city at once. While nothing serious is apprehended, his friends hope he will soon return to his home and business much benefited.

"The Company of the South"

Points that favor Empire Insurance

The life insurance company that accepts only the best risks, is, of course, the company that makes the best all-around showing.

The Insurance Herald of August 3rd, says: "The Empire Life has been doing well so far this year and a satisfactory increase over the same period of 1910 is shown up to July 28th. The increase very likely might have been greater but for the extreme care which has been exercised by the medical department, only A-1 cases being acceptable. The business written up to July 28th was $6,519,750, as against $6,440,500 for the same period last year. The death loss for July was only $3,000, whereas the expectancy was $22,000."

Beginning today with an Empire Life policy means the beginning of one of the best investments you could make—and, too, with a safe, sane and conservative company—a home company—a company with a clean record.

ATLANTA HORSES CAPTURE HIGH HONORS AT KNOXVILLE

By Isma Dooly.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 12.—(Special.)—Atlanta horses won high honors in the Knoxville horse show tonight. D. N. McCullough won the blue ribbon with "Aurora," in heavy harness, and third in ladies' saddle class. John Ottley won the blue ribbon with "McAltara," in runabout class, and third in heavy harness.

Annie Russell won second in high stepping class; second in heavy harness; fourth in ladies' saddle class.

Mr. Frank Inman won fourth in five-gaited saddle class in the thousand-dollar stake, with Chester Bond; third, with Lawson, in runabout class.

Frank Stewart won second in roadster class.

Miss Charles Owens won second in ladies' saddle class.

Miss Mary Algood Jones won second in ladies' saddle class.

The show was a brilliant one, the competition great, the best horses from Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee being exhibited. The greater number of honors were won by Mrs. Richard Tasker Lowndes with two horses, "Kentucky's Choice" and "Gypsy Dare."

Mrs. George Baxter entertained the Atlanta party at luncheon today. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sanford give a dinner in their honor Wednesday night, and Colonel and Mrs. Tyson entertain for them Thursday at luncheon.

Rodgers-Corley.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Rodgers and Mr. Osa Franklin Corley, of Beaumont, Texas, was a beautiful event of last night, taking place at the First Christian church.

The bride entered with her father, Judge Robert L. Rodgers, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. L. O. Brecker, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. W. E. Rodgers, the bride's brother, who is assistant pastor and choir director of the First Baptist church in Beaumont, Texas.

Miss Josephine Vannerson was maid of honor, Mr. J. R. Slaughter, of Beaumont, was best man, Misses Lillian Daley, Lucile Daley, Annalu Jenkins, Ruby Gaffney, bridesmaids; Messrs. J. T. Stevenson, Gerard Gerard-Thiers, B. L. Hapley and Cyrus S. Crofoot, ushers.

The church was appropriately decorated with palms and Miss Mamie Lee Bearden played the organ. Mr. Albert Gerard-Thiers sang during the ceremony.

The bride was charming in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine, hand-embroidered and trimmed with duchess lace, and her bouquet was of bride roses showered with lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore blue chiffon, and her flowers were Killarney roses. The bridesmaids wore white net over pink satin and carried each a shower of asparagus fern.

After the ceremony the relatives and attendants were entertained at the home of the bride's parents in West End. The house was tastefully decorated with palms and ferns, and in the dining room, the table, with an artistic decoration in white and green, had its center piece in Easter lilies.

Mrs. Rodgers, the bride's mother, was gowned in blue grenadine, and she was assisted in receiving by her daughters, Mrs. John D. Lockhart and Mrs. S. G. Lang, of Sandersville, Ga., and by Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Corley, of New Orleans, brother and sister of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Corley went at once to their home in Beaumont, where Mr. Corley is secretary-treasurer of the Atlantic Rice Mills Company.

The bride's going away gown was a becoming blue cloth and her hat was the same color. She will be missed by a large circle of friends in Atlanta, since she was not only an attractive personality, but the musical gifts and attainments to win admiration.

Graves-Reeves.

The marriage of Miss Sarah Graves and Mr. John E. Reeves, of Charleston, will be an interesting event of Tuesday, the 26th, taking place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. D. Graves, in Decatur.

Rev. W. W. Memminger, of All Saints Episcopal Church, will officiate, and the attendants will be Mrs. W. M. Murray, of Columbia, S. C., matron of honor; Miss Nancy Clarke, of Brevard, N. C., maid of honor; Misses Katherin and Blanche Thompson, of Union, S. C., Miss Etta Brand, of Wilmington, N. C., Miss Eliza Candler, of Decatur, Miss Rebecca Candler, of Decatur, and Miss Maury Lee Cowles.

The wedding will be a simple one, and only relatives will be present.

To Miss Evans.

Mrs. Charles Banks will give a matinee party today at the new theater in compliment to her guest, Mrs Frank Evans, of Tampa, Fla.

Farewell Party.

Mrs. John Hall entertained delightfully on Tuesday afternoon at her home, 618 Capitol avenue, in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Henry P. Williamson, who leaves soon to make her home in Montgomery.

Tasteful decorations and dainty refreshments were enjoyable incidents of the occasion.

Mrs. Hall wore a white embroidery gown, and her guest of honor wore old rose marquisette.

Mrs. Hall was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. Alphonse Hurtel.

The guests were: Mrs. Oscar Kay, Mrs. Robert Ingram, Mrs. Hugh Linden, Mrs. Lee Kirbo, Mrs. George Allen, Miss Lucile Allen, Miss Nina Mitchell, Miss May Hall, Miss Marie Williamson, Mrs. Alphonse Hurtel.

Yancey-Gillies.

Rome, Ga., September 12.—(Special.) Notably interesting to friends in this state and many others was the marriage of Miss Mary Lou Yancey and Mr. Donald Burton Gillies, of Chihuahua, Mexico, solemnized in St. Peter's church this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Owing to recent bereavement cards were issued only to the church. The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Samuel D. Hewlett, dame of honor, Miss Florence Yancey, maid of honor and Misses Clare Yancey, Mary Lou Phinizy and Susie Bowie, bridesmaids.

Acting as groomsmen were Mr. Hutchinson, of Mexico, best man; J. Lindsay Johnson, Jr., Ernest Lindsey, Barry Wright, Horace Johnson, Hal Bowie, Ben C. Yancey and S. D. Hewlett.

Little Phoebe Yancey and Florence Hewlett, baby nieces of the bride, with Eben Hamilton Yancey and Robert Graves, Jr., attended the happy couple as flower girls and pages.

Bishop Millspaugh, of Kansas, pronounced the marriage rites, reading the beautiful Episcopal ceremony most impressively.

Shortly following the nuptial scene Mr. and Mrs. Gillies left on an extensive bridal tour, after which they will go to Chihuahua, their future home.

The bride is the second daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Hamilton Yancey, a queenly blonde, who has been greatly admired during the period of her happy young ladyhood.

Mr. Gillies is a man of affairs in Mexico, being prominent in Chihuahua commercially and socially. The wedding brought to the city the following guests:

Bishop and Mrs. Millspaugh, Topeka, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Bellies and Mr. and Mrs. Gudford Deitch, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. Edward Hoopes and Mr. James Brown, Pittsburg, Pa.; Mr. Price McKinney, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Charles Phinizy, and Miss Phinizy, Augusta; Mrs. Robert T. Yancey and daughter, Waterford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hewlett, Atlanta; Miss M. A. Phelan, Atlanta.

Birthday Party.

A beautiful entertainment yesterday afternoon was that given by Master Morris Brandon, Jr., at the summer home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brandon, on Pace's Ferry road. Games were played on the lawn, and there were two big grab bags well filled with toys and tiny pianos and guitars containing bonbons for souvenirs.

The table from which refreshments were served was placed under a tent that was decorated with Japanese lanterns. The table was covered with a lace cloth over pink satin, and had for a centerpiece a tall silver vase filled with pink and lavender asters, surrounded by four baskets filled with the asters, the handles tied with lavender ribbons. At one corner of the table was placed a gift pie, decorated with pink chrysanthemums. At the other end of the table was a Jack Horner pie. An empire basket, with the handles tied with pink ribbons, the top decorated with pink chrysanthemums and butterflies with silver wings, was at the other end. At each plate were gifts in pink tissue paper.

The following were the guests invited: Misses Katherine Dickey, Frances and Marie Brown, Louise Inman, Frances Ellis, Callie and Sarah Arnold, Margaret Block, Margaret Morgan, Frances Traylor, Frances Arnold, Erskine Jarnagin, Garda Horton, Emily Robinson, Jenie Robinson, Rebecca Harman, Mark Orme, Mary and Harriet Shedden, Emily Nixon, Grace Goldsmith, Eva Jackson; Masters Preston Arkwright, Baxter Maddox, Comer and Albert Howell, John Ottley, William Kiser, Lawson Kiser, Sam Inman, Henry Jackson III., Lamar Ellis, Clark Foreman, Russell Ellis, Hugh Inman, Hugh Richardson, Charles Black, Jr., Dan Conklin, James Robinson, Jack Moore, Thomas B. Felder, Jr., Charles Hammond, Morris, Nathan and Inman Brandon.

Guyton-Hyde.

Miss Katie May Guyton and Dr. Oliver Thompson Hyde, of Silver City, New Mexico, will be married September 14, at the family home, 486 Courtland street.

Rev. George C. Thompson, father of the bride, will perform the ceremony in the presence of the immediate family.

Miss Haverty to Entertain.

Miss May Haverty will entertain on October 7 in compliment to Miss Maud Haverty, Miss Claire Ridley, Miss Julia Dodd and Miss Laura Payne.

Theater Party for Dr. and Mrs. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huntington White entertained at a theater party last evening at the Atlanta theater in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Thompson, of Boston.

The guests of the occasion were Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, Miss Kate Sturdevant, Misses Essie and Martha Boykin, Misses Leila and Edith Simms, Miss Julia Padgett, Miss Katie Carlyle, Mrs. W. E. Burke, Mr. David Hall, Mr. Harrington, Mr. Bruce Morgan, Mr. Will Simms, Mr. Carlyle and Mr. White.

Bridge Party for Miss Ridley.

Mrs. B. M. Boykin and Misses Martha and Essie Boykin will entertain at brige next Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Clare Ridley, at their home on Piedmont avenue.

In Honor of Visitors.

Mrs. Simms and Misses Leila and Edith Simms entertained at dinner Saturday evening at their home on Piedmont avenue, in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Thompson, of Boston, who are spending some time at the Piedmont.

Stough-Beers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Stough announce the marriage of their daughter, Neva, to Mr. Frederick Lindley Beers, the marriage occurring September 10, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Beers will be at home after September 15, with the bride's parents in West End.

Miss Murphy's Tea.

A gay and happy company of young girls were the guests of Miss Mary Murphey at an afternoon tea yesterday, and a beautiful hospitality was extended them.

Miss Murphey's home on, Jackson street, was handsomely decorated, palms, ferns and pink roses being used with elaborate taste, and delicious refreshments were served from the dining room, where the table centerpiece was a tall basket filled with pink roses and ferns. The candles, in silver dishes, were pink, and the cakes were embossed in pink roses.

Punch was served on the long porch, which was attractive with plants and vines, and Miss Harriet Haynes, Miss Marcella Hallman and Miss Ruth Reid presided there.

The pretty young hostess wore blue crepe de chine with an embroidered border in Persian design, and her mother, receiving with her, was gowned in white embroidered marquisette.

Assisting in entertainment were: Miss Louise Parker, Miss Lillian Mitchell, Miss Ida Winship, Miss Faith Johnson, Miss Dorothy Traynham, Miss Ellen Wolff, Miss Marie Dinkins, Miss Epple Clark, Miss Joan Clark, Miss Fay Dobbs, Miss Wickliff Wurm, Miss Ruth Padin, Miss Lydia McBride, Miss Grace Sims, Miss Martha Crane and Miss Mary King.

Record Over Country Roads.

Parties autoing to Warm Springs within the last two or three days report one of the finest trips in the state; the roads are in the pink of condition and the 75 miles were made in as low as two and a half hours, most of the parties covering it in three hours.

They found a lovely place in the mountains and swimming baths not equaled anywhere. All agreed to come again. The commodious hotel will be open the entire month of September and auto parties especially cared for. You won't find a pleasanter trip anywhere in the state.

Gifts of Silver

Examine our Silver Plates and Baskets if you are looking for wedding gifts. It will be difficult to choose, we warn you, because you will find the selection an embarrassment of riches. But most people don't mind the idea of being embarrassed with riches, even if it is only a matter of selecting.

Every piece is a triumph of fine workmanship and the styles you will find so good that decision will be merely a question of individual preference.

Atlanta Would Be "Spotless Town"

If we had our way, this town would surely be spick and span. Indeed, we're doing a whole lot right now to make it spotless.

Have you tried us on taking out stains, grease-tracks, ugly places from your garments?

No?

Well, now see here. You're doing yourself a great injustice. Why should you go about all shabby and spotty when we can clean up your skirt or suit in a few hours?

Send us the soiled things. We will certainly do the business to your taste.

CAPITAL CITY LAUNDRY

TEN YEARS OF HORRIBLE HEADACHE

Husband Tells Story of Mrs. Guthrie's Long Illness and Is Glad She Is Now Relieved.

Beaufort, N. C.—Mr. Luther Guthrie writes, as follows: "My wife suffered with horrible headaches, for ten years, and I spent three hundred dollars for doctor bills for her, but nothing did her any good.

I had read about Cardui for years back, but never tried it, until last October, when I decided to get it for my wife.

Now she has taken two bottles, and it has done her two thousand dollars worth of good.

She is entirely well, and has not had another attack of headache since she commenced to take Cardui.

Just as long as the medicine is made, I shall have Cardui in my house. I can't praise it half enough."

Cardui has cured sick women, after other medicines have failed. It is made of ingredients that act specifically on the womanly constitution. It is not a cure all. It is a medicine for women, and only for women.

For more than 50 years, it has been in widely extended use, by women of all ages, and has given perfect satisfaction, as a remedy for rebuilding womanly health and strength.

Try it yourself. It will help you.

WE REFUND YOUR MONEY IF YOU KEEP YOUR FRECKLES.

Try Wilson's Freckle Cream. It Is Sold Under an Absolute Guarantee.

That the greatest care should be shown in selecting a cream or lotion for facial application is generally known. But to be able to purchase a cream which is absolutely guaranteed to remove freckles or pimples and get your money back from the druggist if it fails to do so, is something new.

Wilson's Freckle Cream is not only a splendid toilet cream, but also a harmless, mild face bleach.

Try a 50-cent jar of Wilson's Freckle Cream, and you will find that your freckles will perceptibly fade. A second jar will cause them to completely disappear. If it does not do this, your money will be refunded without argument by the druggist from whom you purchase the cream.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send his name and 50 cents to the Wilson Freckle Cream Company, Charleston, S. C., and a full size jar will be mailed you.

HOW SHE SAVED HER LIFE.

You cannot afford to go home from the mountains and spend the month of September in central and south Georgia cities. The most ideal place in Georgia to spend the month of September is at the famous Warm Springs, Meriwether county. It will be kept open until October or longer. Stop by on your way home and stay a week or two. Cool climate, clean and beautiful grounds; 1,250 feet above the sea, and the finest swimming pool and baths in the United States.

What Else is There, Madam, So Vital as Milk?

You insist that all other foods be utterly sterile. Why don't you insist on a germless milk? Why not a whole, rich milk?

If a child wanted raw meat you would quickly forbid it. But isn't the danger of germ infection many times as great in raw milk?

If water was germ-laden you would boil before drinking. But raw milk is a germ-breeder, and is always germ-laden. What do you do about that?

Careful people are coming to sterilized milk. And the best milk of that kind produced in America is Van Camp's rich Holstein milk.

Just Natural Milk

In the rich dairying districts of seven northern states we milk 30,000 cows per day.

They are pure-bred Holsteins, kept in model dairies. They are guarded by constant inspection.

Close to each dairy is an evaporating plant, conducted with hospital cleanliness. The milk fresh from the cows is brought to those plants and placed in a copper vacuum.

There we evaporate two-thirds of the water. And, because of the vacuum, the evaporating is done without a scalding heat.

Nothing is added—no sugar, no starch, no preservative. Nothing but water is taken out. When you replace the water you have a milk exactly the same as it came from the cow, save for sterilization.

Caramel Ice Cream

Beat two eggs and add to one pint water and one pint can of Van Camp's Milk. Put one pound dark brown sugar in a skillet, let it become a reddish brown, and put it in the custard while still hot. Let cool, pour in one pint more of Van Camp's Milk and freeze. If liked, one cup chopped nuts may be added.

Write for our book of 131 recipes, including all sorts of ice cream.

Van Camp Packing Co.
Indianapolis, Ind.

Exceedingly Rich

This milk when evaporated is as thick as thick cream. It is so rich that you add one part water for coffee, for cereals or ice cream. It is 28 per cent solids, 8 per cent butter fat.

When you use it in cooking it gives a richness and flavor unknown from milkman's milk. The reason is this:

Milkman's milk always separates. The butter fat rises and the solids fall. The milk which comes to your cooking is rarely more than a half-milk.

Van Camp's is whole milk. It has all the butter fat, all the solids belonging to the richest milk. Make one milk dish with it and find out what a difference this whole milk makes.

Saves About Half

If Van Camp's is reduced to the usual milk's richness the cost will figure about six cents per quart.

We save you the cost of the milkman's daily delivery, and that is more than the milk cost.

And we save you the waste. Van Camp's means a cow in the pantry. Rich milk or cream whenever you want it. All that you want, and no more. An opened can keeps until you use it up.

This saving in cost, plus the saving of waste, in the average home will cut milk bills in two. You can get the utmost in milk — pure, sterile, whole, rich milk—for less than you pay the milkman.

A $100,000 Milk

We have spent in seven years over $100,000 to bring Van Camp's Milk to its present matchless standard. We have employed for the purpose the ablest Swiss and Dutch experts.

The result is the finest milk produced in America—unexcelled by any milk in Switzerland or Holland. Yet it costs no more than common evaporated milks. It costs far less than milkmen charge for germ-laden milk from mongrel cows. A single day's use will make you forever a convert. You will always insist on Van Camp's.

The 16-oz. can—a full pint of Van Camp's—costs 10 cents. The 6-oz. can costs 5 cents. Your grocer has it, shipped from our nearest dairy. Ask him now to send you some. Know what pure milk means.

COTTON GROWERS WANT FAIR DEAL

Many Statesmen, Farmers and Bankers Crowd Convention.

Meeting Proposes to Correct Erroneous Idea That This Year's Crop Is to Be Extremely Large and to Devise Means for Gradual Marketing.

Montgomery, Ala., September 12.—One thousand men from every cotton growing state in America met today in Montgomery and until black night darkened an auditorium which contained no provision for light, conferred together to devise ways and means to rebut the figures of the federal cotton report and to secure a better price for cotton. Among these men were numbered congressmen, United States senators, the commissioners of agriculture or their representatives from every southern state, together with hundreds of farmers, bankers, business and professional men whose homes are scattered throughout the south.

Committees Are Named.

While nothing further than organization was effected, officially this meeting of the cotton growers proved their earnestness by the appointment of four committees to be known as the committees on resolutions, marketing and financing the cotton crop, national legislation and statistics, estimates and conditions of the cotton crop. These committees were appointed early in the day and made to consist of the commissioners of agriculture of each state, three delegates from each state and President C. S. Barrett, of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union.

One of the principal speakers of the day was Senator E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, who, in scathing terms, denounced the so-called gamblers of Wall street, Liverpool, New Orleans and foreign markets and said that the southern farmer must declare his financial independence of these people. He said the farmer should demand a fair profit on his cotton, and ventured the assertion that if the New England farmer had such a monopoly as the cotton crop he would demand and receive 30 cents a pound for it.

Government Figures Attacked.

Senator Smith also made an attack upon the accuracy of the government cotton report, and said that the southern farmer had lost enough money because of it to establish an insurance department, or to insure proper figures. He declared, too, that Attorney General Wickersham wanted to break a so-called monopoly to boost the price of cotton but crushed no illegal combination to force the staple down.

When congress meets again in December, Senator Smith said, he is going to introduce a bill to require the secretary of agriculture to show in his monthly cotton census, not only the amount of cotton in the field, but the number of bales in warehouses and who own these bales. Throughout his speech Senator Smith was heartily cheered, and it was he who spoke until faces in the dingy auditorium could not be distinguished.

Kolb Made Chairman.

The convention was called together at noon in the auditorium of the Exchange hotel. Captain Reuben F. Kolb, commissioner of agriculture for Alabama, was made temporary chairman. He presided until Commissioner of Agriculture E. J. Watson, of South Carolina, was made permanent chairman. Rev. C. A. Stakely, of this city, opened the convention with a prayer. Addresses of welcome were made by Captain Kolb, Lieutenant Governor Seed, Mr. R. B. Evins, representing Governor O'Neal; President Gunter, of the city commission, and President Kohn, of the Montgomery Commercial Club, in behalf of Alabama and the city of Montgomery. These addresses were responded to by State Senator I. A. Bush, of Georgia.

Underwood to Speak.

The convention will be brought to a close Wednesday evening with a demonstration in honor of Hon. Oscar W. Underwood, leader of the house of representatives, who will reach this city with a party of good roads advocates from Birmingham. Mr. Underwood will be accompanied, among others, by United States Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, and John Craft, president of the Alabama Good Roads Association.

It is thought that Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, will also be in the city by that time. Senator Williams has expressed great interest in the cotton growers' convention and it is understood that he will be present unless he is prevented by some unforeseen circumstance.

BRILLIANT SUCCESS CROWNS EIGHT YEARS' STRUGGLE

STORY OF THRILLING INTEREST TO SCORES OF GEORGIANS.

The telegrams published herewith furnish the final chapter in the story of a native Georgian and his wife, whose eight years' struggle and hardships in Idaho, poetically termed "The Gem of the Mountains," have finally been closed and crowned with a brilliant victory.

In 1903, William A. Edwards, a native of Covington, Ga., an honor graduate of Emory college during the incumbency of Bishop Candler as President, likewise a graduate with distinction from the Columbian Law School of Washington, D. C., later a member of its faculty, and still later an attache of the Interior Department under Gov. Hoke Smith, located in the mountain fastnesses of Idaho, a phenomenally rich mining property, which he named "The Eagle." Surrounding it were the famous Coeur d'Alenes, with a production of $210,000,000, the Warrent Placer having an output of $300,000,000 and the Boise Basin, with a record of $350,000,000. Now, mining experts boldly declare that it is destined to exceed any of the number.

Having faith in the outcome of the property he and his young wife, formerly, Miss Annie Napier, of Macon, set about its development with moneys furnished by loyal and trusting friends in Georgia. A recital of the struggles, the hardships, the privations and the sacrifices they have since experienced, and the unflagging faith, the untiring energy, the unfailing patience and the unfaltering determination with which they have met and successfully combatted every obstacle that has crossed their pioneer pathway, would put into total and permanent eclipse the average story of romance, or of fiction.

Throughout all these years, faithful friends in Atlanta, Macon, Covington and other nearby places have proven their confidence in Mr. and Mrs. Edwards by holding the stock which, from time to time, they purchased in the enterprise.

Within the last three years, Prof. E. L. Martin, of Macon, accepted the vice presidency and fiscal agency of the company, and although he has had to combat on every hand popular prejudice, skepticism and ignorance regarding mining investments, his faith in ultimate success has never wavered. He has raised the moneys with which the work of development has been pushed forward vigorously, and with which finally milling machinery of the most modern type has been installed, and begun the conversion of the crude ore into bars of shining bullion ready for the mint.

Georgia's Chief Executive, and many other state, county and city officials, prominent bankers, business and professional men are the fortunate owners of the company's stock; and as the development has progressed and the values increased, the price of a few cents per share has steadily advanced until it has reached ten and twelve-fold the original sum; and the Superintendent freely predicts that with the successful milling and marketing of the ores the price will shortly advance to ten-fold that at which it was last sold.

Conservative estimates of expert and eminent mining men fix the present quantity of ore now clearly in sight and available for milling at 1,000,000 tons of the average value of $25 or more per ton, while they and others declare that the ore that has been traced out, and will ultimately be developed, will reach into hundreds of millions.

This brief narrative, and the telegrams below, are published, not for the purpose of selling stock, but in order that the hundreds of Georgians who have invested in this enterprise, and their friends, may hear the glad tidings that the long struggle which they so loyally furnished the money to conduct, has eventuated in a glorious and brilliant victory—that the coveted goal and the glittering gold are now actually in sight; and that the accumulation of a fund has begun that will mean the distribution of liberal and rapidly-increasing dividends in the years to come.

John F. Henderson, President,
Covington, Ga.

Mill started September 1st. Being new machinery, will have to wear smooth and become adjusted before we can run to full capacity. Probably will not make clean-up for two or three weeks. Everything even better than expected. Mill the best ever erected in Central Idaho.

TELEGRAM.
WEISER, Idaho, Sept. 7, '11.

E. L. Martin, Vice President,
Atlanta, Ga.

Have the directors corral the stockholders and hold big celebration. The mill started on the 1st. Mr. Edwards' sister fired the engine, Mrs. Edwards blew the whistle, which startled the natives and stampeded the wild animals; while I took charge of the ore bin, and fed the first 500 pounds of ore to the crushers.

FAIR WEATHER TODAY, DOPES THE FORECASTER

Cloudy Weather Promised for Tuesday Fails to Bring Rain.

Fair weather is indicated for Atlanta and vicinity today.

Thanks to the weather man, who is lucky sometimes in spite of himself, the cloudy weather yesterday failed to bring rain, as had been expected, and Atlanta passed a reasonably decent day. Here's hoping for the forecast today.

HIS SPEECH STOPPED.

The temperature continued reasonably high, with the mercury registering 88 degrees.

"It's very fine to be gifted with an ear for music," said the Gopher, "and fortunate is the man who has an ear for concourse of sweet sound, coupled with the opportunity for giving free rein to his natural bent.

"There is a certain man in town who is so fond of music that he has built a large music room in connection with his residence. And there he assembles all the musical talent of the city whenever the occasion allows.

"Be it known that this man simply despises an interruption whenever there is any music going on, whether it be instrumental or vocal. He despises a fuss. So it came to pass that a few evenings ago he had some of our best-known music-makers gathered at his house for an evening of unalloyed joy. All was as still as an orphan asylum on the night that Santa Claus is expected. You could have heard a pin fall. The music started and the silence became even more silent. The host was preparing himself for the entertainment. Gracefully he gathered his coattails together and then he sat down. But not for long, dear reader, not for long. He had hardly reached his seat ere he came forth again with a loud yell that woke up the settlement and broke up the congregation. He had settled himself comfortably into a saucer of ice cream. There was no more music that night."

CLEVER BICYCLE ACT PLEASING ADDITION

One of the most remarkable, as well as the most original bicycle stunts, was introduced on the Forsyth program last night. The Dundine Troupe, two pretty girls and two clever men, constitute the act, and their work is so really original that it is positively refreshing. One of the pretty misses is of a Tanguay temperament, and kept activity on duty during the run of the act. This number completes the regular seven acts at the Forsyth, and rounds out one of the best bills of the season.

THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

With a program of selected vaudeville features, better than the average offerings at the busy Forsyth, there is little wonder that the folk who hold permanent reservations at the popular theater are content, and that the late comers are fortunate in securing seas in the theater at all his week.

There are many splendid entertainments on the bill this week. The novelty of the offering of Zellah Covington and Miss Wilber, is being talked about by everyone who has enjoyed the treat. This is a one-act playlet, perhaps the most handsome stage mounting that is in all vaudeville, and though there are seven distinct type characters in the piece, Mr. Covington and Miss Wilber are playing all. They are the cleverest protean artists that have been seen on a local stage. Henry Horton and Company are excellent in their laugh producing classic, and Swor and Mack, the cleverest black face comedians that have entertained Forsyth audiences, score a most pronounced hit with their really clever and original act. The Dundine Troupe, four people, two of whom are pretty girls, were added to the program on Tuesday night, taking the place of the aerial combination that failed to appear on Monday, because of an accident.

George Beban.
(At the Atlanta.)

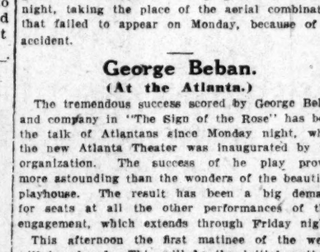

The tremendous success scored by George Beban and company in "The Sign of the Rose" has been the talk of Atlantans since Monday night, when the new Atlanta Theater was inaugurated by the organization. The success of he play proved more astounding than the wonders of the beautiful playhouse. The result has been a big demand for seats at all the other performances of this engagement, which extends through Friday night.

This afternoon the first matinee of the week will be played. This will be the initial matinee in the theater also and is certain to attract a crowded house. The wonderful appeal which this play has for women is doing much to make it popular. A regular cryfest is sure for this afternoon when the tear ducts will be let loose and the pretty and sympathetic women are sure to need plenty of handkerchiefs.

The engagement of this company continues through Friday night with matinees this afternoon and Friday.

Emma Bunting.
(At the Lyric.)

It certainly is a sumptuous production of "The Blue Mouse" which Miss Emma Bunting and her splendid players are giving at the Lyric this week. Every member of the company has appeared in the play before, consequently the presentation is as smooth as if the company had been playing the piece all season. "The Blue Mouse" is one of the most amusing comedies Clyde Fitch ever wrote, and he was responsible for some of the best ever written. Miss Bunting plays the part of Paulette Divine, "The Blue Mouse," and she has done nothing better in the past twelve weeks at the Lyric. Her portrayal is beyond criticism. All the company appear to excellent advantage, especially William Thompson, who plays the part of Joseph Lewellyn, the railway president; George Whitaker, the leading man, who appears as Augustus Rollett, Lewellyn's private secretary; Jerome Storm, Miss Bertha Leigh, Miss Ida Lester, A. E. Walsh, S. Byrd Wheeler, E. M. Leonard and others. There are three acts and each has been provided with handsome and elaborate stage settings. This is Miss Bunting's last week at the Lyric. The summer season will end Saturday evening. Then the regular season will begin.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Hopkins, Commerce.

Commerce, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Mrs. Hopkins, wife of W. D. Hopkins, died at her home near this city yesterday of pellagra and pneumonia. The remains were interred at Mount Olive, with religious services conducted by the Rev. J. J. Kimsey.

Mary Clary, Cedartown.

Cedartown, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Mary, the bright little 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Clary, Jr., died at their apairtments at the Right hotel after a brief illness last night at 10 o'clock. The funeral and interment was held today. The body was buried in Greenwood cemetery.

Miss Eva Costan.

Miss Eva Costan, aged 30 years, died August 25, in Kansas City, Mo. The body was later brought to this city, where the funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Poole's chapel, Rev. Charles Daniel officiating. The interment was in Hollywood.

Mrs. Nora Croft.

Mrs. Nora Croft, aged 23 years, died Monday evening at the residence, 129 Chapel street. The funeral was conducted from Poole's chapel Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the interment was in Blue Ridge, Ga. She is survived by her husband, W. J. Croft, and four children.

William N. Tune.

William N. Tune, aged 72, died at the Old Soldiers' home last evening at 9 o'clock. The body was removed to Poole's chapel, and funeral arrangements will be announced later. Mr. Tune enlisted in 1862 with Company E, of the Forty-fifth Georgia regiment, in the Army of Northern Virginia, and was with Lee at the time of his surrender.

HEAVY DOOR TRAVELING JUST ONE INCH A MINUTE

Traveling at the rate of an inch a minute, the 50,000-pound door to the new Third National Bank vault was headed last night via Pryor and Marietta streets for the new building.

The large iron door, one of the heaviest in the south, arrived in the city Monday evening. On account of its weight, much trouble was encountered in removing it from the car, and not until last night was it placed securely on the pavement near the union station pards. It will probably be late tonight before the door can be placed at the Third National building.

COAGULATING BASIN IS LEAKY

Supplemental Work to Remedy Defects Costs the City $3,500.

At a meeting of the bond commission and water board yesterday morning, a report was made by the chief of construction about one of the new coagulating basins which is being built by the Nichols Construction Company. Captain Clayton reported that the basin was not quite water-tight, and that he had made arrangements for supplemental work that would cost $3,500 extra.

Captain Clayton said he had acted under authority of the bond commission and water board.

Water Commissioners Woodside, Barrett and Davis voted against approving what had been done, but they were outvoted by a decided mapority of the joint meeting.

GAME A JOKE BY MILLER'S WORK

Crackers and Vols Engage in Hippodrome Contest.

Jordan Keeps Doggie on Hill, Though He Yielded Ten Hits, Allowed Six Walks and Made One Wild Heave and Four Errors.

By Dick Jemison.

Of all the punk exhibitions of baseball, the one on Tuesday between the Volunteers and the Crackers would take first prize, the Volunteers winning it 6 to 2 and every one of the six runs made by the Vols were gifts of the Crackers.

If ever a pitcher should have been yanked out of the box, Doggie Miller was the man. He yielded ten hits, allowed six bases on balls, made a wild pitch and contributed four errors.

Of course, it is not even intimated that Doggie did this kind of work purposely, but just the same he ought to have been yanked.

Whether intentionally or otherwise, it was poor policy to let Miller stay in the box. He and his battery partner, Wells, made six of the seven errors committed by the Crackers. Fans pay good money to see ball games, not farces. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Even if it is the tail end of the season and the games do not count for anything one way or the other, the fans pay their good hard earned money to witness a game of baseball and not a hippodrome such as Tuesday's affair was.

A single, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly tallied the first run for the Crackers in the first. Two singles and an error tallied the other in the eighth.

Nashville tallied four runs in the second inning on two bases on balls, a sacrifice, an error, another error, a sacrifice, a two-bagger and a three-bagger. Two singles, an error, a wild pitch and a single tallied two more in the fourth.

Lookouts Split Even.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 12.—Memphis and Chattanooga broke even today in two hotly contested pitchers' battles, neither side earning a run. The home team scored twice in the first game, the first on a pass, a stolen base, a passed ball and a pop fly that was allowed to fall safe; the second on two successive singles and an error by Brennan. After superb support and sensational throwing by Lejeune had saved Keupper for six innings of the second game, Baerwald opened the seventh with a single, stole second and third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Miller.

Montgomery, Ala., September 12.—Montgomery won the third game of the series from New Orleans by a score of 17 to 3. "No-hit" Hill, the Anniston wonder, was in the box for New Orleans, and gave up twenty-three hits in seven innings. Bagby, of Hattiesburg, in the Cotton States League, pitched for Montgomery, and was effective all the way through, two of the visitors' runs being made on an error. McElveen got two three-baggers. Toward the close of the game the manager shifted their players around out of their positions and started a farce; which the crowd was displeased with. The score:

Six Hits in Game.

Jackson, Mich., September 12.—In yesterday's game between the Jackson and Battle Creek teams, of the Southern Michigan League, "Buck" Conners, the Jackson first baseman and former Central Leaguer, secured six hits, four of them doubles, in six times at bat. This is a new league record. Jackson made twenty-six hits and twenty-three runs, a record for this season.

JAWBONE IS LOST AT BASEBALL GAME

Lyerly, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—As the result of attending a game of baseball here recently, A. C. Powell, ticket agent for the Central of Georgia, has a broken jawbone and several teeth missing. It seems that Powell was standing with his side toward the batter, when the ball was pounded. He turned his head to see the result, and the ball came with terrific speed and sent him to the ground with a stream of blood gushing from his mouth, and an examination made by several doctors found that his left jawbone had been shattered and several teeth knocked completely out, and the whole side of his teeth mashed inward nutil they will have to be extracted and a plate made.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Giants Win Two.

Boston, September 12.—New York rode roughshod over Boston here today, winning two games, 9 to 6 and 11 to 2. Although Boston btated Marquard from the box in the seventh inning of the first game, scoring five runs for a one-run lead, New York came back strong in the eighth, hitting Hogg and Griffin for four runs. Donlin argued himself out of both games by criticising decisions.

Young fell before a fusillade of New York in the third inning of the second game. New York's hitting in this game included two home runs by Merkle and one by Doyle, off Young, and another by Crandall, of Tyler, who succeeded the veteran. The scores:

BY WAY OF GOOD MORNING

A GOOD GENERAL MAKES VICTORIES LOOK EASY — THERE ISN'T MUCH HONOR IN BEING BRITISH CHAMP

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF

Charley Frank has just completed a piece of baseball generalship that makes the military tactics of the other leaders of Southern League clubs appear as pitiful as the sorry strategy of General Bernado y Castollio, the justly celebrated Nicaraguan revolutionist, compared with the genius of Bonaparte; and the Southern League is just waking up to the fact. By this generalship he has caused his team to breeze in with a pennant with room to spare, and he has likewise added many shekels to his own privy purse and the private wallets of every other club owner in Mr. Kavanaugh's circuit. For wisdom, you have to hand it to this Mr. Frank.

When the season was young and hearts were hopeful, Frank drew away from the other clubs in the league with the same ease that is employed by a pickpocket in avoiding a sleepy cop. He knew that in those days of fair promise the attendance would not fall off one iota. Everybody is an optimist in April, May and June.

But July, August and September had to be contended with. Frank knew that with his club possessing a lead that forbade anyone else having a look-in for pennant honors, the attendance throughout the circuit would be about as large and enthusiastic as a national convention of the Independence League.

Now Frank did not throw games, let this be understood here and now. But he eased his team. No good jockey ever applied the goad on his mount when his horse had a commanding lead. He allowed him to travel easily, saving the reserve strength for the finish.

Now Frank is a good jockey. If he weighed a couple of hundred pounds less than he does and had been raised to the game, he would probably be making Danny Maher look sick right now. So Frank did not push his club. He let it travel as it pleased.

All of this time John Dobbs and Gladys Molesworth were doing everything in their power to overcome the distance between their clubs and the Pels. All season long they carried their teams at top speed. Every game in which they played was played under stress. Gradually, the lead of Frank was overcome.

In the meantime Birmingham and Montgomery were going baseball buggy. Rick Woodward's park will probably register this year the biggest attendance the Southern League has ever known. Montgomery broke all her records for crowds. And C. Frank smiled.

A pair of weeks before the close of the race, both Montgomery and Birmingham were in striking distance of the Pels. Then Frank drew his goad. He had his team well rested. His pitchers were as fit as fiddles. The entire organization was ready for any kind of a battle.

On the other hand, both Billikens and Barons were worn out by the stern chase. Maxwell, the Baron's mainstay, had pitched his arm off in sending Molesworth's team to its high percentage. Bill Bailey, who was Dobbs' chief asset, was a badly overworked pitcher. Maxwell was out of commission before the Pels reached Baronville. Bailey had nothing but a record and a glove when he faced the Pels.

It was a case of a weary boxer facing a fresh man just as clever as he happened to be. The knockout was inevitable.

All praise must be given Frank for his clever race, but Dobbs and Molesworth should not be forgotten. They made it possible.

Talk about the hard luck and the obscure position of the Atlanta baseball team—it's nothing. Just think about poor old Britain.

Once was when merry England had about the warmest crowd of sporting champs this side of a muchly feared, warm place. Now it is as hard to find a champion in Great Britain as it is to discover a five-pound note on the sidewalks of East Cheap, wherever that is.

Sir Thomas Lipton has made many gallant eforts to bring home the yachting mastery. He has, thereby, obtained a lot of free advertising for his tea, but he has won no cups to drink it from.

Owen Moran came over and made a bid for Mr. Wolgast's scalp. When Owen woke up, the best thing he could claim was a foul. Then some sturdy descendant of Sir Francis Drake sent over some motor boats to capture all of the honors in that class. When the race ended, the Dixie IV had to use a megaphone to yell back to its British rival that the race was all over and he had just as well save his gasoline.

American Olympic teams have become so accustomed to trimming their British brethren that there is really no sport in crossing the pond and the polo laurel still rests on Harry Payne Whitney's brow. Now the bloomin' Yankees have captured the tennis title. The only honor that England can now boast is that of heavyweight champion pugilist. Jack Johnson says he is an Englishman and every American is glad to admit it.

DOBBS TO HEAD BILLIKENS AGAIN

Montgomery, Ala., September 12.—John Dobbs today was re-elected manager of the Montgomery baseball team for 1912 by the Montgomery Baseball Association. He was highly indorsed, and his policies of the past season were approved.

"The Montgomery Baseball Association appreciates the work that Dobbs has done this season," said President Jones. "Its members are confident that with Dobbs in charge next season, the same quality, or even better baseball, will be given the public."

McAleer Would Be Magnate.

Boston, September 12.—John I. Taylor, president of the Boston American League baseball club, announced today that James B. McAleer, manager of the Washington club, is coming to Boston on Thursday for the purpose of closing an agreement for a half interest in the local American League club. Mr. Taylor declared that he had every reason to believe that the arrangement would be made.

Radabaugh Joins Cards.

At the close of the present post season series between Columbus and Columbia for the Sally League championship, Roy Radabaugh, the star twirler of the Columbus team, will report to the St. Louis Cardinals. Manager Bresnahan has wired for the twirler to report immediately.

SWACINA QUITS THE MOBILE CLUB

Mobile, Ala., September 12.—The Mobile, Southern League baseball team is to have a new manager for 1912, Harry Swacina, who has been acting since Ducky Holmes left Mobile, declining to pilot the bunch any longer. Swacina will not accompany the local club to New Orleans for the remaining games of the season, but instead, will visit St. Louis. George Rohe will be in charge of the team. Among those who have been mentioned for manager are Steinfeldt, Beaumont, Otto Jordan, now with Atlanta; George Reed and Rohe.

AMERICANS WIN OVER BRITONS

New York, September 12.—Americans won the right to meet the Australian holders of the Davis international challenge cup by capturing the final singles of the preliminary matches today on the turf courts on the West Side Tennis Club grounds here. Both of the closing matches went through four fast sets, M. E. McLoughlin, the young Californian, disposing of C. P. Dixon, captain of the British team, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, while W. A. Larned, the American title-holder, defeated A. H. Lowe, rated as the best singles man on the British team, 6-3, 1-6, 7-5, 6-1.

The results of the five competitions in which the American and British Isles challengers engaged give the Americans four points for winning all the singles, while the British Isles takes one point for the victory in the doubles, in which A. E. Beamish and C. P. Dixon defeated T. C. Bundy and R. D. Little yesterday.

There was anxiety among the followers of the sport before the matches began, as the Britons had displayed more formidable strength than had been expected. But the Americans were at their best and did more than was looked for. Both Larned and McLoughlin, after working their net games to the limit and winning the first sets, stayed back in the court. This allowed the Britons to display their wonderful skill at driving and to outplay the Americans for the set. Then Larned began his attack at the net and McLoughlin followed suit. And there the Americans won. The Britons could not hold them when they came up. In the last set Larned ran to a lead of 5 love on games before he let up and Lowe got a game.

McLoughlin smashed all around Dixon in his most spectacular style. As the latter often attempted to come up the American crossed the ball at a speed that defied a return. In the last set he led Dixon at 4 love before the Briton was successful in scoring a game. It was a battle of speed at the net against driving and steadiness and the former won with a good margin in each of the deciding matches.

Nat Thornton Wins Match.

Cleveland, Ohio, September 12.—In the men's singles, and doubles at the open tennis tournament for the Ohio championship here today, Dr. D. B. Reed, of Asheville, N. C., showed the best form in the singles, beating E. Wilson, of Detroit, 6-3; 7-5; 6-3, after some very fast playing. In the doubles, Frank C. Marty, of Kentucky, and Dr. Nat Thornton, of Georgia, easily disposed of B. K. and H. B. Glidden, of Cleveland, in straight sets, 6-2; 6-2. Dr. D. B. Reed and A. F. Reed beat Wick and Maag 6-3; 6-2.

Lowered World's Record.

Lexington, Ky., September 12.—Frank Perry, owned by J. R. Magowan and driven by Nick Curry, lowered the world's record for yearling pacers at the Agricultural fair here today to 2:15. The former record was 2:20¾.

COLUMBIA HANDS FOXES THE SECOND

Insist on Playing Coveney, an Ineligible Man.

Umpire Promptly Forfeits the Game to Columbus 9 to 0. At a Conference, However, It Was Agreed by Columbus to Throw Out Game.

Columbus, Ga., September 12.—Because Manager Clark, of the Columbia team, insisted on playing Catcher Coveney, an ineligible man, in the championship game scheduled here this afternoon between the Carolinians and Columbus, Umpires Irwin and Moran forfeited the game to Columbus, 9 to 0, in the beginning of the last half of the first inning.

The umpires explained that in the list of players furnished for the series under the rules Coveney's name was not included and that Clark insisted that if he did not play there would be no game. When he was sent behind the bat by Columbia there was nothing left under the rules for the umpires to do but forfeit the game to Columbus.

The visitors went to bat first. Noojin and Beck fanned and Harbison hit a hot grounder by the pitcher which was grabbed by Breyette at short and sent to first in time to put the runner out.

Becker went to bat for the locals, and when the ball was pitched, Coveney being behind the bat, Umpire Irwin announced to the large crowd present that the game was forfeited to Columbus, 9 to 0.

Sitton and Reynolds were working for Columbus, while Barrenkamp and Coveney were announced to do the work for the visitors.

At a conference here tonight, officers and directors of the Columbus Baseball Association agreed to throw out the game here this afternoon which the umpires declared forfeited to Columbus because the Columbia team had thirteen men on the field in uniform. This action was taken on the advice of Vice President Cornish, of the league, who attended the meeting.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Athletics 10, Yanks 1.

New York, September 12.—Philadelphia rode rough-shod over New York today, winning with ease. Warhop was driven off the mound in two innings and though Caldwell was an improvement, he yielded four more runs. Coombs pitched a crafty game and, though hit hard, was steady in the pinches.

Milwaukee, September 12.—The obtaining of an injunction prohibiting the sheriff of Milwaukee county from interfering with the ten-round boxing contest on Friday night between Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast and Packey McFarland, of stock yards fame, appears to be the only means left by which the promoters will be able to stage the bout.

Matchmaker Mulkern still contends that the bout will take place.

FAN FLOCK NOW TURNS TO SCOTTY BENEFIT SERIES

Now that the baseball season has about come to a close, and it will not be long before the world's series and the annual football games commence, in the interim, something should attract the attention of the local fans.

That something is right close at hand in the shape of the benefit games for Scotty Walker, the little Cracker shortstop who was injured in the early season by a pitched ball thrown by Bert Maxwell.

A series of three games will be played for his benefit at Ponce de Leon park between two picked nines, chosen by the fans around the circuit, these games taking place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. More than $2,000 has been already raised for him, but more should be contributed now, and a good attendance at the games is hoped for.

These games are going to bring about the best baseball that has been played at Ponce de Leon park this season. Twenty-five per cent of the gross gate receipts for the three days will go to the team winning two out of the three games. With this incentive, the all-stars are going to give the best brand of ball that they are capable of playing.

Out-of-town teams have contributed liberally to the benefit, no less than $300 being raised in this manner, while Bert Maxwell, the man who did the maiming, secured more than $1,200 by selling tickets in other towns.

And the players who were chosen for the two line-ups will be here with few exceptions. Their places will be filled by members of the Atlanta and Chattanooga teams that finish the season here.

Bert Maxwell, Otto Hess, Red Smith and Rube Benton will be the only men of the thirty men who were picked by the fans who will not be in the line-ups, but their places will be filled by capable players in every position.

The games are really going to be games between two all-star aggregations. Angemeier, Higgins, McMurray and Elliott will look after the catching, a pretty classy array of backstops, if anyone should ask you.

Sykes and Schwartz wil be the first sackers; Pratt and Jordan, the second sackers; Crandall and Sentell, the shortstops, and O'Dell and either Howard or Murch, the third basemen.

Daley, Barr, Northern, Moran, Zimmerman and Callahan will do the outfield work for the two teams. In the rifle pit, Prough, Atkins, Johns, More, Allen, Paige, Miller, Coveleski, Chappelle and Kuepper will look after the hurling.

Surely those are two mighty good nines, and should furnish some mighty good ball playing.

Already dea fin one ear, threatened with blindness in one way and mentally unstrung from the blow, Scotty's condition should strike a sympathetic chord in the hearts of all fans.

CLANS GATHERING AT ATHENS

Athens, Ga., September 12.—(Special.) Football Coach W. A. Cunningham and Assistant Coach Frank Anderson greeted the advance guard of the football team today which is to represent the red and black of the University of Georgia in the most important series of games that the management has been able to contract for in the history of the institution.

Among those who appeared on Sanford field this afternoon for the first instructions and the first light practice are Bob McWhorter, Conkling, Powell, Ross Greekmore, Harrell, the big Riverside guard; DeLappierrierre, Covington, Bowden, Maclain, Malone, Slater, Hitchcock, Hinnehan, Price and several other candidates for places on the 'varsity.

There will be a scrub team this year—and the men on that team will be watched with peculiar interest in respect to the hopes of future seasons. There will be no games with prep. school teams this fall. The 'varsity team will, however, have the heaviest schedule ever attempted—more games to be played than some of the college teams take on and some splendid opponents—Tech, Vandy, Clemson, Sewannee and finally Auburn being on the list of foemen worthy indeed of the best in the Georgia team.

The Georgia team has some good material, several of the old men failing to come back, however, and the blow of the year to athletics at Georgia is still having its effect—the captain of the football team, "Kid" Woodruff, cannot join the boys. The question of the selection of a successor to Woodruff as captain of the team will be a theme of interest and will engage the attention of the association when school opens.

There are several men in the club who would make excellent leaders—and Georgia will this year select a man for his fitness as captain. Kid Woodruff is in Athens and has taken his place as captain to receive the men as they report for practice. He will be in college this year, but he will not be on the football team and the only redeeming feature of the situation so far as the "Kid" is concerned is that he will be here to help the coach and will be on the firing line of rooters when there are games played in Athens. Every effort has been employed to get him for the work, but both his father and his mother so seriously object to his playing that he could not flagrantly violate their wishes this year.

PETE HOUSER TO AID HEISMAN

By H. L. Hughes.

Coach J. W. Heisman, of Tech, today made the announcement that Pete Houser, last year's captain of the Carlisle Indian football team, has been appointed assistant coach of the Yellow Jackets for the season of 1911.

Houser is one of the most brilliant football players who ever stepped on a gridiron and was chosen for the All-American team by the peer of pickers, Walter Camp. He should prove a valuable acquisition to the Jackets.

Red Hill, captain of last year's eleven, and W. A. Alexander, last year's manager, will also help in the coaching in an effort to round out a representative eleven.

The regular morning practices are being held at 9 o'clock, but owing to the examinations, the attendance at these practices has not been what it will be in the near future.

Maroon Stars Out.

Chicago, September 12.—Eberle Wilson and Ralph Young, quarter back and full back of the 1910 University of Chicago football team, will not wear the maroon this fall. The loss of these men, which constitutes one of the severest blows a Chicago eleven has received, became known yesterday when Coach A. A. Stagg began active work on his 1911 team. Wilson has been ruled ineligible because of absence from the university last spring and Young has decided to remain at home.

DOUBLE-HEADER TO CLOSE SERIES

Nashville and Atlanta engage in their final meeting of the season today in a double-header. The first game will start at 2:15 o'clock.

Atkins and Paige will do the hurling for Atlanta, with Barr and Case for Nashville.

TY COBB IS INJURED SPRINTING FOR "FLY"

He Falls and Bruises His Left Knee—Will Play Today.

Cleveland, Ohio, September 12.—While sprinting for a fly ball in today's Detroit-Cleveland game Ty Cobb fell and injured his left knee. He said tonight, however, that he probably would play tomorrow.

Ejected Fan Sues Club.

Philadelphia, September 12.—Samuel Arnold, a baseball enthusiast, who was ejected from the Philadelphia National League grounds on August 28, during a game between the Chicago and Philadelphia teams, has sued the Philadelphia baseball club for $5,000.

Arnold is alleged to have called Mordecai Brown "yellow," and it was stated at the time that Brown requested the removal of Arnold from the grounds. Umpire Klem stopped the game and had a policeman eject Arnold.

Arnold's complaint in the suit filed yesterday is that he was not allowed to see the game to which he paid his admission.

SICK GIRL RESCUES MOTHER, DRIVEN TO ATTEMPT SUICIDE BY DEATH OF HER TWIN SISTER

Athens, Ga., September 12.—(Special.) Mrs. Robert Pierce attempted suicide here about 9 o'clock tonight by jumping into the Oconee river, which flows in a few yards of her home.

Four days ago her twin sister, at Fairview, S. C., died, and Mrs. Pierce has been affected with melancholia bordering on dementia.

Her grown daughter, who has been ill in bed and unable to walk a step for days, saw her mother slip from the room and, raising on her elbow, called to her only to hear her reply, "Farewell."

The girl, with abnormal strength, sprang from her bed and through a window and plunged into the river to rescue her mother. Both women would have been drowned but for the prompt response of a white man and two negroes nearby who heard the younger woman's screams.

Both women will suffer for some days from the effects of the affair.

W. V. KRIEGSHABER TO DRIVE CHALMERS IN GEORGIA TOUR

W. V. Kriegshaber, of Atlanta, a member of the firm of V. H. Kriegshaber & Son, has sent in his request to be placed among the entrants in the coming Tour Around Georgia. Mr. Kriegshaber will drive his Chalmers 30 in the tour, and is confident he will make a splendid showing with it.

Mr. Kriegshaber's application has been filed in teh order of receipt, and this makes a total of fourteen voluntary entries to date—entries sent in before any request was made for them and before the entry blanks are issued. The entry blanks will not be prepared until after the meeting of the executive committee on September 19, but in the meantime all applications are being received and filed in the order of their receipt.

"I am going into the tour with all the enthusiasm at my command," said Mr. Kriegshaber. "I look upon it as a most laudable undertaking, and I am satisfied it is going to be a big success. I don't know of anything to compare with it as an incentive to road development, and I believe this year's Tour Around Georgia is going to bring results in this direction which will be of value to the state for many years to come."

TRYING TO SECURE REVENGE SHE LANDS IN LIMBO TWICE

After invoking the aid of the police in order to secure revenge upon her neighbors, and being fined in police court, when her charges proved a boomerang, Mrs. E. L. Peck was again put under arrest about 9 o'clock last night on a charge of disorderly conduct. The police state that after securing her release on bond, she returned to her home, 509 Crew street, and then proceeded to tell her neighbors who testified against her in court just exactly what she thought of them. Her language, it is stated, was emphatic, and objectionable enough to cause interference by the police for the second time in one day.

Mrs. Peck's troubles started on Monday night when she undertook to get even with some of her neighbors by using the police. In the hearing of the case Tuesday morning, she stood convicted of offenses sufficient to cause the recorder to fine her $50.75, to bind her over for running a disorderly house and order her to move at once.

The arresting officers testified that Mrs. Peck called the police station over the 'phone Monday night and asked for an officer to come to her home and catch a burglar who was stealing chickens. She gave her residence as No. 503 Crew street. When the police found nothing wrong at 503 they investigated and ascertained that the call had come from 509 Crew street. They said they found Mrs. Peck lolling on the front porch in a hammock with a pistol in her hand and laughing hilariously. She told the police that she had sent them to the wrong house in order to have revenge upon some of her neighbors whom she claimed had mistreated her.

When a further investigation was made the police arrested Mrs. Peck for being intoxicated and for sending in a false call. Neighbors were found who were willing to testify that Mrs. Peck's home was so disreputable because of couples visiting there as to make it unfit for a decent neighborhood.

When the recorder asked Mrs. Peck what she had to say she replied:

"Nothing very much, as the whole matter has been ridicuously exaggerated. I own my own home and only entertain a few friends and relatives. On account of nervous prostration I may have drank a little too much, but I have now cut it out and only take a drink of whisky every three hours with a little beer in between. When I visit some of the clubs I drink a little wine."

STUMPING SOUTH GEORGIA IN AUTO IN HIS CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR

Waycross, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Dr. J. R. Dedge seeks to be Georgia's governor on the platform that he declares ought to appeal to every voter in the state. In his statements he says he seeks office to give the people a fair and impartial representation—not representing a corporation or any particular set of men.

Dr. Dedge is making trips to various counties in an auto, and is really serious in his race. He became generally known throughout the state years ago, when he exhibited a horned negro at various fairs and expositions, the negro having been operated on in such a way that he had horns, and they were not detachable to the ordinary person's eyes.

Dr. Dedge formerly resided at Waycross, and will maintain headquarters here during the campaign he has mapped out. For the past two years he has lived at his farm in Coffee county, where he took delight in big acreage yields. Local option, stronger law enforcement, compulsory education of white school children and separate school funds for white and colored are some of the things advocated by Dr. Dedge. He also wants the jury system abolished and courts of three or five judges held to settle all cases.

DR. J. R. DEDGE,
Of Coffee county, candidate for governor of Georgia on unique platform.

Steamship Wrecked.

Seattle, Wash., September 12.—The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamship Ramona has been wrecked on Decision island, near Juneau, Alaska. The Ramona took the place of the Spokane, which was wrecked in Seymour Narrows, B. C., in June. The passengers of the Ramona, who barely escaped with their lives so speedily did the ship sink, saved nothing but the clothes they wore.

RALLY IN NINTH AGAINST CHARTER

Between 200 and 250 citizens of the Ninth ward held an open-air meeting last night near the corner of Leggett avenue and Wiley street, and heard speeches against the proposed new charter.

The meeting was presided over by Aldine Chambers, councilman.

E. S. Chipley was chosen secretary.

Mr. Chambers confined most of his remarks to show that the present city government was all that it should be.

The next speaker was Judge John S. Candler, mayor pro tem.

He said the city of Atlanta is now called upon to decide the most momentous question since it was destroyed by Sherman's army. He told the audience that there was no better governed city on the earth than Atlanta, and there had never been a breath of suspicion against a mayor or a councilman. Judge Candler closed by outlining the proposed new charter, and stating that such a charter would not be a representative government by the people.

William H. Terrell spoke of the present city government, and said it was on the same plan as both the national and state governments, and stated that the system had been tried for hundreds of years and had stood the test.

William M. Smith denied the assertion that the people against the new charter were politicians. He claimed that nearly all the members of the charter committee were politicians.

Benjamin M. Blackburn spoke next. He took up the new charter after saying it meant a rule against the interests of the masses of the people; he spoke of Mayor Winn and said he had "jumped a contract and would never be trusted again by the people."

Charles W. Smith, of the ninth ward, said "there was something behind it all" that should be carefully investigated. He claimed that a lease of the waterworks might be the "joker" in the new charter. He said that under the new charter one man would have the right to name every teacher in Atlanta.

Claude C. Mason, member of the water boarad from the tenth ward, spoke of what the waterworks had done to get water to the outlying sections of the city. He gave figures to show that the water board had saved thousands of dollars to the city.

Robert Lee Avery, of the sixth ward, took the position that if there had been anything wrong in the city government, it would long ago have been shown.

Councilman E. A. Minor said the new charter would destroy a representative government by the people."

Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Be it resolved by the people of the southern section of the ninth ward, in mass meeting assembled, as follows:

"We denounce and condemn the proposed 'compromise' charter as undemocratic and against the best interests of the people of the ninth ward and entire city.

"Resolved, further, That we pledge ourselves to vote and work to the end that said 'compromise' charter will be overwhelmingly defeated on September 27."

CHAMPIONS FALL IN GOLF TOURNEY

Rye, N. Y., September 12.—Champions and former champions fell as thick as autumn leaves in the amateur golf championship at Apawamis today and the sixteen who survived the final round of medal play and the first round of match play included only one player that has borne the American title. Among the 16, however, are two likely foreigners in H. H. Hilton, the British champnon, and J. Douglas Brown, the Irish holder of 1907, and Jerome D. Travers, who won in this country in 1907 and 1908.

Among those who closed their national golfing career for 1911 today were William C. Fownes, of Pittsburg; Walter J. Travis, once a British and thrice an American champion; M. Byers, of Pittsburg, who won in 1906, and such famous players as Robert Gardner and Mason Phelps, of Chicago and T. M. Sherman, of Utica.

Drawing of opponents for the final round of match play brought together such brilliant golfers as Travers and Travis, Herreshoff and Fownes and Seckel and Gardner. Hilton drew a place at the top of the list while Charles E. Evans is near the foot and it is figured if each of these players should continue his winning streak for the next three days it will be Saturday when they meet for the first time.

The honors of the day were easily Hilton's and the odds against his chance of winning the American title were considerably lower tonight. The first prize in the tournament went to him on the completion of the 36 hole medal play for which he turned in a card of 150, which led Gardner and Seckel by two strokes.

Nearly all the afternoon matches were well fought, two of them going an extra hole and one being finished on the 18th green.

The drawings tomorrow are:

Hilton and Watson, Hunter and Travers, Inslee and Martin, Bowers and Whittemore, Herreshoff and Stickney, Kirby and Brown, Seckel and Legg, Evans and Kammer.

YOUNG MACON BOY DROWNS IN RIVER

Macon, Ga., September 12.—(Special.) Robert Adams, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Adams, of College street, was drowned in the Ocmulgee river, just above the Spring Street bridge, this afternoon, while he was in swimming with eight companions, all boys, who had surreptitiously gone in bathing against their parents' orders.

Mr. Adams is one of Macon's leading citizens, and the tragic death of his son has elicited the sympathy of the entire community.

The body was found after it had been in the water an hour, and desperate efforts were made at the hospital to recustitate life, but all efforts were unavailing.

The funeral will take place Wednesday.

JEALOUSY CAUSED DEATH OF BRIDE

Motive, Say Detectives, of Alleged Slayer of Mrs. Childers.

Americus, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—That jealousy was the motive which prompted R. C. Kennedy to administer a fatal dose of poison to Mrs. Maude Childers, in the opinion of the detectives who have been working on the case was indicated today when the fact was disclosed that Kennedy had courted the young woman before her marriage. It is said the authorities, urged on by Solicitor Zack S. Childers, brother of the murdered woman's husband, seek to hold Kennedy on the theory that jealousy or revenge was the motive which led him to put strychnine in a phial of sal-hapatica belonging to Mrs. Childers.

The grand jury will meet in three weeks, and it is expected the case will be investigated by them.

Zack Childers has been endeavoring to clear his brother, Mart Childers, the woman's husband, from suspicion, and employed detectives to investigate the case. Childers and his wife lived together happily, it is said, during the six months of their wedded life. They had apartments at a hotel conducted by Kennedy's father. Three weeks ago Mrs. Childers died, and examination showed strychnine poisoning was the cause.

Interest most intense was aroused throughout this section of Georgia this morning by the publication of the story of the arrest at Carrollton of Kennedy.

Early this morning Solicitor Zack Childers, of the city court of Americus, brother-in-law of the deceased, went to Leesburg, Lee county, and swore out a warrant for Robert L. Kennedy for the alleged poisoning of Mrs. Maude Childers. The warrant has been given the sheriff of Lee county, who will doubtless go immediately to Carrollton, where young Kennedy is held at the instance of detectives who worked up the charges against him.

Beyond the issuing of the warrant by Judge Long, of Leesburg, there have been no further material developments today in this sensational case, although interest and feeling is keyed to the highest pitch in Smithville and Laesburg. The former town was the scene of the distressing death of the beautiful and beloved young woman.

Sanders Home Robbed.

A burglar entered the home of Mrs. L. A. Sanders, at 11 Terry street, last night, effecting his entrance through a rear window, and before discovered by Mrs. Sanders stole a pistol, a locket and an old-fashioned necklace. Mrs. Sanders said she believed the burglar to have been a negro.

THINKS HER SON WAS MURDERED

A coroner's verdict of accidental death will probably not stop the investigation into the finding of Frank White's dead body early yesterday morning in an excavation being made for a new building at the corner of Poplar and Fairlie streets. His family will go to the bottom of the matter, they say, at the same time hinting of sensational suspicions.

FRANK WHITE.
His mother says she will investigate his death.

Mother Thinks Son Was Murdered.

White's mother declared, when told that her son was dead, that he had been murdered.

"He has enemies," she cried, but refused to say anything further until she could procure detectives.

"Frank was accidentally killed," said his wife, with equal assurance. "I am going to the bottom of the matter and will hire a detective. I think his mother was hinting at somebody, because of family troubles, and I certainly won't stand for it."

White was a young man and was last employed by the King Hardware Company. For some weeks he has been out of work and Monday afternoon said he was going to see about a place with a civil engineering firm. He did not return home and was found by some carpenters in the elevator shaft of the new Crumley Hardware Company building. There were two small wounds on his head, both of which might have been inflicted by the fall, said physicians.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from Greenberg & Bond's chapel, with the interment in West View. White is survived by his wife and two little daughters, who have gone to live with Mrs. White's mother, 288 South Pryor street.

M'NAUGHTON GETS NEW LIFE LEASE

Case Goes to the United States Supreme Court

Sentenced to Death for the Murder of Fred Flanders, Dr. McNaughton Gets Another Chance Before the Highest Tribunal in the Country.

Dr. W. J. McNaughton, sentenced to be hanged in Emanuel county for the murder, by poison, of Fred Flanders, the alleged motive being interest in the latter's wife, secured a new lease on life yesterday as the result of an appeal from the final decision of the supreme court of Georgia to the supreme court of the United States.

The state supreme court refused McNaughton a new trial after he had been convicted in Emanuel county and sentenced to death. A motion for rehearing before full bench was then made, the case having been argued before only three judges. This was denied by the state supreme court on August 15.

Now, upon application of Hon. Frank H. Saffold, of Swainsboro, and Hon. John W. Bennett, of Waycross, counsel for Dr. McNaughton, Chief Justice Fish has signed a bill of exceptions by which the case is carried to the supreme court of the United States under the due process of law section of the constitution of the United States.

Wanted Hearing By Full Bench.

Only three state supreme court judges—Evans, Atkinson and Lumpkin—heard argument in the case, while it was decided by the entire bench. McNaughton's counsel contended that if six judges were to decide his case, he was entitled to a hearing before the entire six. Failing to secure such a hearing, it is contended he has been denied due process of law in violation of the constitution of the United States, and also that under the constitution of Georgia, which guarantees a defendant a hearing before the court which passes on his case, he was entitled to a hearing before six judges.

It is stated that this is entirely a new point; that it has been the practice of the state suprme court to accord a hearing before less than a full bench, although the entire court may decide the case. The supreme court, it is said, would like to have it settled whether or not this practice is correct. There does not appear to be any definite law or decision on the subject.

Mr. Bennett has only recently come into the case. Dr. McNaughton was formerly a resident of North Carolina, where he was a prominent Odd Fellow. The Odd Fellows of North Carolina who knew him still have confidence in him, and they were determined to help him. As the result of corrrespondence with Odd Fellows in Georgia, they were referred to Mr. Bennett, and only a short time ago secured his services to assist Mr. Saffold in the case.

FEDERAL PAROLE BOARD IN SESSION

Robert V. Ladow, of Washington, D. C., chairman of the federal prison parole boards of the country, reached the city yesterday morning, and the local board met for a short session during the afternoon. The board will meet daily until the work, which it is expected will consume about four days' time, has been completed.

There are in the neighborhood of 125 petitions for parole to be considered by the board at this session and from past experience, it is expected that the better part of the week will be consumed in looking into these cases. Mr. Ladow and Warden Moyer both believe, however, that their work can be finished by Saturday afternoon.

Both these gentlemen are extremely enthusiastic over the work being done by the parole board under the provisions of the law passed a year ago by which a prisoner who has served one-third of his sentence with a good record may be paroled on the recommendation of the board and the concurrence of the attorney general. Since the enactment of this law, more than 150 inmates of the local prison have been released, favorable reports having been received as to the life each of them is leading. Not one of them, Warden Moyer states, has violated the conditions of his parole even in the slightest degree, so far as can be learned.

This is the third meeting of the board here, it being provided by law that the board shall meet at each prison not less than three times each year.

The Truth About The Board of Education

The NEW CHARTER retains the SCHOOL BOARD.

The men who oppose the NEW CHARTER have had a great deal to say about this fact.

They have charged the friends of the NEW CHARTER with inconsistency.

They go still further, and accuse them of consenting to retain the SCHOOL BOARD in order to propitiate the PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE, whose brother is the SUPERINTENDENT OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

THIS IS ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE.

Here is a plain, straightforward account of the whole matter:

After a sub-committee had drafted the original COMMISSION CHARTER, we accidentally learned that some of the members of that committee were not in sympathy with the idea of doing away with the SCHOOL BOARD.

Later, the issue was brought directly to our attention.

We secured information from nearly one hundred PUBLIC SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS in cities that had changed from the ALDERMANIC to the COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Every one of them reported that the SCHOOL BOARD was retained, but on a different basis than the one that had controlled it under the old SYSTEM.

The SCHOOL BOARD was independent.

It had no connection with any other part of the GOVERNMENT.

We were after precedents that had established records of achievements.

Here were nearly a hundred letters from SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS of eastern and western cities.

They said that as soon as all strings that attached the SCHOOL BOARDS to other AUTHORITIES had been cut, the affairs of the SCHOOLS became progressive and prosperous to an extent never before known.

We made these investigations quietly.

We spoke of them to no one.

About this time THE CONSTITUTION began to advocate a "COMPROMISE" CHARTER.

We were eager for any measures that promised greater efficiency and greater economy in the GOVERNMENT OF OUR CITY.

We had a conference with leaders of the NEW CHARTER, and while discussing plans that would bring harmony into the ranks of those who desired a change, WE SUGGESTED THE RETENTION OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

When we did this the PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE and his brother, the SUPERINTENDENT OF THE SCHOOLS, were not even remotely in our mind.

WE ARE WHOLLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SECTION OF THE NEW CHARTER THAT RETAINS THE SCHOOL BOARD. We favored it for the reasons given above.

Now, read the following:

The NEW CHARTER provides for the election of a LEGISLATIVE BODY composed of ten members.

This body elects the SCHOOL BOARD.

The SCHOOL BOARD elects the SUPERINTENDENT.

We have never heard a single man being mentioned as a probable candidate for either the LEGISLATIVE BODY or the SCHOOL BOARD.

THERE IS NO SLATE.

If there were one, the PEOPLE could easily smash it.

Now, you see how silly and stupid it is for the opposition to claim that the SCHOOL BOARD was retained to protect the interest of the present SUPERINTENDENT.

Should the NEW CHARTER be adopted, no one has the slightest idea who will compose the LEGISLATIVE BODY or the SCHOOL BOARD. Therefore, there can be no combination for or conspiracy against our SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.

"GEORGIA AD DAY," NOV. 30, TAKES WITH LOCAL BOOSTERS

Georgia is certainly in for a big boost Thanksgiving day.

It is estimated that 10,000,000 post cards, pamphlets, newspapers and other kinds of literature advertising Georgia will be mailed on that day to people in other states and countries.

"Everybody is in on this," said Frank Weldon, chairman of the movement. "The school child can send its card to its little friend in a distant state; the great merchant, manufacturer, banker, professional man, farmer or workman are all invited to join in the effort to reach as many outside people as possible and to make them think and talk of Georgia. We want to induce them to come to Georgia and to buy Georgia products, whether it is a box of candy, a locomotive, a pair of shoes, clothing, machinery, apples, potatoes, syrup, steel rails or nails, furniture, lumber, farm lands, beverages or any other of the hundreds of commodities grown, manufactured or sold in Georgia. The Savannahan will send something about his city, the Augustan something about Augusta. The citizen of Moultrie will boost Colquitt county, the Cornelia man may be interested in advertising apples or peaches. No matter whether the card or literature is local or general, just so it advertises Georgia, it will help.

"I believe the suggestion is going to take all over the state. Some large houses and trade bodies will send out hundreds of pieces of advertising literature. A dozen firms have 'phoned me that they will co-operate. Mr. Wightman, manager of the American Press Association, tells me that his service will carry something about the day and the idea to millions of readers. A prominent north side lady telephoned suggesting that a souvenir post card be issued. The idea is a fine one and we pass it on. Everybody is welcome to get out a souvenir card.

Special Editions of Weekly Papers.

"Some of the leading weekly papers will issue special editions for the occasion and these papers will be splendid advertisements for their readers to send away.

"We want everybody to help. Georgia is in the limelight now and we want to turn on a stronger current. A few days ago I met on a train a priest from Ohio who was bringing down a colony of German farmers. 'Some of our people located in south Georgia last year,' said Father Arnoldi. 'They are well pleased with their success this, their first year. Georgia is a wonderful state and thousands of homeseekers are coming down just as fast as they find out what a splendid country you have.'

"A South Carolinian was in today and he said that a number of his friends had come to Georgia and had invested a large sum of money here.

"A New York friend says that if the city people could only realize the joy and ease of living in north Georgia the metropolis would soon be half deserted.

Business Men Approve Movement.

As stated in Tuesday morning's Constitution, the leading business men of Atlanta are enthusiastically endorsing the plan for Georgia Advertising day on November 30.

Colonel Fred J. Paxon, president of the chamber of commerce, says:

"I believe the plan as suggested will result in the unbuilding of Georgia more than anything else that has been undertaken in several years. We all know that Georgia has abundant resources to make her the greatest state in the union. With her soil, climate and minerals there is no reason why she should not take a foremost place among the states that depend upon agriculture, mining and cattle raising. All we have to do is to let the world know what our state is and the proposed advertising day on November 30 will do a great deal towards this. Speaking as the president of the chamber of commerce, and as a business man, I want to say that it will be the duty of all good Georgians to help in making this advertising day a great success. I shall do all I can."

Ad Men to Co-operate.

Paul P. Reese, president of the Ad Men's club, says:

"You can put me down as strongly indorsing the plan for Georgia Advertising day and I believe that every member of the Ad Men's club will do what he can to make the movement a grand success. There is always more good to be accomplished when there is a unity of purpose than by disconnected and spasmodic efforts. To have a united and concentrated advertising of Georgia, her soil, her resources and her business, will do a great deal to advance the development and growth of the entire state. The plan, as I see by the newspapers, is already in good hands and is sure to be a success if the people of Georgia do their duty."

Edwin P. Ansley, capitalist and real estate dealer, says:

"Having learned by experience the great and good results that come from wise and judicious advertising, I can truly say, in indorsing the plan for Georgia Advertising day, that the result of such a plan will mean more to Georgia than even the most optimistic of us might believe. Just as a merchant or a real estate man must let the people know what he has for sale before he can expect to sell it, just so must the state of Georgia let the world know what she has in the way of soil, climate and resources, before she can fully expect to become what she is entitled to among the states of the union. It, therefore, behooves the people of Georgia to take hold of this advertising plan with a vim and earnestness which will make it a success and cause it to redound to the good and glory of the empire state of the south."

MACHINIST DISFIGURED BY BREAKING OF BELT

Savannah, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Thomas D. Noonan, a machinist in the planing mill of the Mill Haven company, lies in the Park View sanitarium suffering from injuries received when a belt broke at the plant. Even if Mr. Noonan recovers, he will be disfigured for life.

He was immediateely hurried into the city, where medical treatment was afforded him. His face was a mass of bruises, and his mouth and throat was in such condition that he was unable to speak.

HON. T. W. TEASLEY CROSSES DIVIDE

Hartwell, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Hon. Thomas Washington Teasley, former mayor of Hartwell, director in the People's bank, lawyer and one of the most prominent citizens of this section, died after a three-hour illness of paralysis at his home on Howell street this afternoon.

He was stricken at 10 o'clock in a drug store and was removed to his home, where he peacefully passed away.

His funeral will occur Wednesday. Colonel Teasley is survived by his wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Sadler, and the following children: J. Loyd, Carl, Ralph B., Charles and May Lill.

CATARRH

Hawking and Spitting, Dropping Into the Throat, Foul Breath,

CURED THROUGH THE BLOOD

You must not neglect discharges of NAUSEATING YELLOW MATTER from the Ear, Nose and Throat.

CATARRH IS NOT ONLY DANGEROUS in this way, but it causes ulcerations, death and decay of bones, kills ambition, often causes loss of appetite, and reaches to general debility, idiocy and insanity. It needs attention at once. Cure it by taking Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.). It is a quick, radical, permanent cure because it rids the system of the poison germs that cause catarrh. At the same time Blood Balm (B. B. B.) purifies the blood, does away with every symptom of catarrh. B. B. B. sends a tingling flood of warm, rich, pure blood direct to the paralyzed nerves, and parts affected by catarrhal poison, giving warmth and strength just where it is needed, and in this way making a perfect, lasting cure of catarrh in all its forms.

B. B. B. has cured thousands of catarrh cases—even the most deep-seated kind—after every other treatment has failed. B. B. B. does this because it reaches the cause of all the trouble; namely, Poisoned Diseased Blood. Just try B. B. B. for Catarrh and you will get well surely and quickly.

Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) is pleasant and safe to take, composed of pure botanic ingredients. At $1 PER LARGE BOTTLE, with complete directions for home cure.

"GEORGIA AD DAY"

The patriotic and practical wisdom of the idea suggested by MR. STEVEN BOLLES deserves the active sympathy of every business enterprise in the STATE.

GEORGIA is not congested. She is rich with the charm of an enchantment that offers full reward for honest industry.

In various forms this is the essence of the message she can send the whole world:

COME TO GEORGIA, where a multitude of chances is in favor of TOIL and where POVERTY may lie down among fruitful fields and dream of a bright TOMORROW.

COME TO GEORGIA. It is a valley world. No such expanse, gentle in its undulations, sunny in its slopes, and diversified in its aspects, can be found elsewhere on earth. Broad rivers stretch their wedded waves, and the everlasting roar of TALLULAH thunders their nuptial salutation to the sea.

COME TO GEORGIA, where plains await the drapery of the purpling vine, and fallow lowlands yield the fair largesse of cotton and God's gift of golden grain.

COME TO GEORGIA—Her majestic hills hold the secrets of centuries in store for the use of man; coal in which the imprisoned sunbeam is reserved to gladden the firesides of rejoicing homes; granite and marble, on which nature has sculptured the mystic emblems of an unknown past.

COME TO GEORGIA—all you pioneers of a migratory population. Her fecund soil needs but the clearing touch of the ax and the prick of the plough to start the marvelous harvest of pomp and splendor.

COME TO GEORGIA, where, side by side with the cabins of our forefathers, rose the school and the church—symbols of power and purity.

COME TO GEORGIA, the STATE that gave the South ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS, who first created the sentiment that halted the advance of the fanatics that cherished the principles of "KNOW-NOTHINGISM"—another name for class prejudice and religious persecution.

One event produces another. The EFFECT of today, flowing from a distant source, becomes the CAUSE of tomorrow and starts a new series of extending actions.

GEORGIA ADVERTISING DAY should awaken deep and universal interest. No one can calculate the vast amount of good that may be garnered from the development of the plan.

REED INVESTIGATES DAMAGE DONE BY COTTON CATERPILLAR

Cordele, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—W. V. Reed, of Atlanta, field assistant to the state entomologist, was in the city today, having come at the request of Representative O. T. Gower and other prominent farmers of this section for the purpose of making an investigation into the extent of damage to cotton through this section being wrought by the ravages of the caterpillar, a pest which has been developing during the past few weeks with alarming rapidity and which, it is feared, will spread to the many fields of young cotton planted since the harvest of the oat and wheat crops, now in full bloom and fruitage.

Mr. Reed has visited some of the infested fields in this section, and while he says the damage being wrought is considerable, it is nothing like as alarming as in middle or north Georgia, where the bulk of the crop is several weeks later than in this locality. He estimates that the damage to the crop from the prevalence of these pests throughout the state as a whole will reach to between 15 to 20 per cent, but his opinion is that the per cent of damage in this immediate vicinity will be comparatively small owing to the fact that a majority of the fields had passed the stage of susceptibility before the abundant development of the pest.

For checking and the destruction of the pest Mr. Reed has suggested as the most effective method the sprinkling with one part of paris green to four parts flour or two parts nitrate of lead with four parts flour.

In speaking of the development of caterpillars, Mr. Reed states that their presence this year in greater abundance than for several years past, is due to the fact that weather conditions have been exceptionally conducive to their development and spread in one stage or another. According to Mr. Reed, they are constantly with us in the form either of a moth or in a chrysallis stage that may be developed under favorable weather conditions.

Confidence of the Public

A DEEPLY important asset that every bank must have in order to do business is the implicit confidence of the people of the community in which it operates. And in order to gain this, its methods must be thorough; it must afford facilities for the prompt and careful transaction of all business intrusted to it, and its policy must be sound.

Because of the strict observance of these important factors, the LOWRY NATIONAL BANK has won the wholesome recognition of every class of business, and is justly ranked with the leading banking institutions in the North and South.

STEADIER TONE SHOWN IN COTTON

New York, September 12.—The cotton market was much less active today, but showed a steadier tone on a moderate demand from trade interests or leading bulls with the close steady at a net advance of 1@5 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 2 points and active positions sold about 3 to 5 points above the closing figures of last night during the early trading. Cables were a little better than, due and while there was no change in the character of southern wires regarding the spot situation, neither southern nor Wall street offerings were as heavy as they were yesterday.

Buying of December by a leading spot house seemed to be the chief feature early, and after easing off to practically the closing figures of last night, in the late forenoon the market rallied again on a private condition report indicating that the crop had deteriorated 3 per cent on the average since the government report was made up on August 25. The favorable weekly weather report checked the advance, but failed to inspire any aggressive selling, but the market reached the highest level of the day in the late afternoon, when the general list sold about 4 to 8 points net higher. The close was some 2 to 4 points off from the best under scattered realizing and late reports of further declines in southern spot quotations. There were rumors that early returns to the National Ginners' Association for a mid-month condition report read bullish, but nothing definite developed in this connection and with weather conditions generally favorable, the talk of deterioration since late in August failed to stimulate any fresh outside demand of consequence. Sellers, however, showed more caution than yesteday, and when leading bulls gave the market suppore they seemed to find comparatively little opposition.

Receipts today 55,471 bales, against 27,233 last week and 38,657 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 626 bales, against 632 last year, and at Houston 22,663 bales, against 18,848 last year. Cotton spot closed quiet, 5 points higher; middling uplands 11.85; middling gulf 12.10; no sales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, September 12.—Spot cotton easy, ⅛c lower; middling, 11¾; sales, 110; to arrive, 100; low ordinary, 8 5-16, nominal; ordinary, 9½, nominal; good ordinary, 10 9-16; strict good ordinary, 10 15-16; low middling, 11¼; strict low middling, 11½; middling, 11¾; strict middling, 11⅞; good middling, 12; strict good middling, 12 5-16; middling fair, 12⅝; middling fair to fair, 13; fair, 13⅝, nominal; receipts, 626; stock, 25,112.

Cotton futures opened steady to a decline of 2 to 8 points. Cables were indifferent, and some uneasiness over the foreign political situation was still in evidence. The large movement also caused much bearish comment, and the into-sight for the week was estimated at 300,000 bales, against 200,000 this week lost year. Bulls offered no support and the moderate volume of short selling was more than the market could hold up under. At the same time the undertone was steady enough. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 4@5 points under yesterday's close.

Shorts were steady buyers to release profits around the middle of the morning and this buying increased as the morning progressed, causing a steady though small improvement in values. The weekly weather reports were called more favorable than expected and caused a momentary setback of 3 to 4 points, but soon after they were out of the way and the market commenced to recover again. The chief source of strength was the report that the commitments of the last half of September in the spot department were larger than the commitments of the first half. At noon prices were unchanged to 1 point up compared with yesterdays' close.

In the afternoon session, the market was very steady on a private condition report showing deterioration of three points since the first of the month.

At 2 o'clock prices were 3 to 4 points over yesterday's close.

The market for cotton futures closed steady 6 points down to 3 points up compared with yesterday's close.

Mining Stocks.

Boston, September 12.—Arizona Commercial, 55; Butte Coalition, 15; Calumet and Arizona, 40½; Greene Cananea, 6; North Butte, 23⅝.

GENERAL GAINS MADE IN STOCKS

New York, September 12.—Movement of prices on the stock exchange today indicated that, for the time being at least, Wall street was in a more cheerful mood. The market developed its customary irregularity and there were no signs that any substantial support had been tendered. But trading began with a higher level of prices and during most of the session the list ranged somewhat above the previous close. At the end of the day, small fractional gains were general with a few stocks a full point higher.

Only two of the active stocks were forced to new low levels of the year. Pennsylvania receded to 119⅛ and Missouri Pacific to 35⅛. The market soon reversed its position and mounted to well above the final range of yesterday.

Outside the market leaders there was much irregularity. International Harvester yielded about two points on a reiteration of the report of approaching proceedings by the federal government against the company. Pacific Mail was one of the strongest of the specialties with an advance of two points.

American Tobacco issues were exceptionaly strong. Heavy buying of these issues were supposed to be in connection with the early completion of the plan of reorganization.

The advance in the 4s and 6 per cent bonds which later reacted was the feature of the bond market. Bonds generally were firm. Total sales, par value, $2,435,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Rice.

New Orleans, September 12.—Rice: There was a good demand for rough Honduras in the local rice market today, sales of 6,086 sacks being reported. Receipts were also heavy. Receipts: Rough, 11,617; clean, 3,229; millers', 2,725. Sales: Rough Honduras, 6,086 at $2@3.30; Japan, 830, at $3.62. Clean Honduras, 3,978, at 1⅞@4⅞; Japan, none. Quotations: Rough Honduras, unchanged: Japan, 2@3.62; clean Honduras, 2@5; Japan 2@3¾.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

WHEAT STRONGER; CORN ALSO GAINED

Chicago, September 12.—Surprises at the scantiness of increase in the world's available supply of wheat helped turn the market for that cereal today from heaviness to strength. The outcome was a net advance of ⅛ to ¼. Corn gained ⅛@¼ and oats ⅛ to ⅜. In provisions there was 2½ to 20c decline.

According to figures made public today, only 1,298,000 bushels were added to the world supply of wheat during the last week, although the gain at the corresponding time a year ago was 9,311,000 bushels. Instead of being, as heretofore this season, greatly in excess of the totals for twelve months back, the world's stock now is but little more. Besides this shock for the bears, there were aids to the market in the shape of frost damage reports from Canada. It also was apparent that selling early had been overdone. Weak cables and heavy northwestern receipts were the chief depressing influences at the outset. The unloading of holidays by local leaders was on a decidedly liberal scale for awhile, one operator alone selling out nearly 1,000,000 bushels. The property, however, was well taken and did not at any time thereafter come back into the pit. During the session December fluctuated between 95⅞ and 96⅞, closing firm ¼ up at 96¾@97⅛.

Corn was well supported. One reason was that export clearances were larger than has been the case of late. Closing strength in wheat had also considerable effect. December ranged from 63⅞ to 64¼ and in the end was firm, ⅛@¼ net higher at 84¼. Ca grades were dull. No. 2 yellow was quoted at 63¾@67¼.

A fair cash demand rallied oats before the advance in wheat and corn was fully developed. High and low levels touched by the December option were 46@46⅛ and 45 ⅞, with the close at the top figures named, a rise of ⅛ @¼ over last night.

The provision market was under pressure from longs who had made purchases at recent high figures. When the last gong sounded, pork showed 2½ to 20 fall and there was 2½ to 7½ cut from the cost of the other kinds of product.

WEATHER BUREAU

WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief.

Observations taken at 8 p. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. ISOBARS, or continuous lines, pass through points of equal air pressure. ISOTHERMS, or dotted lines, pass through points of equal temperature; they will be drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. SYMBOLS indicate state of weather: ◯ clear; ◐ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; Ⓡ rain; Ⓢ snow; Ⓜ report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figure, highest temperature for past 12 hours; second, 24-hour rainfall, if it equals .01 inch; third, wind velocity if 10 miles per hour or more.

SYNOPSIS.—Rain has been quite general along the north Atlantic coast, the lake region and the north Pacific coast; elsewhere fair weather prevails generally throughout the country.

ATLANTA LIVE STOCK MARKET

(Corrected by W. H. White, Jr., of White Provision Company.)

Quotations based on actual purchases during the current week.

Good to medium steers, 900 to 1,100 pounds, 5¼ to 5⅝.

Medium to good steers, 800 to 1,000 pounds, 4½ to 5.

Good fat beef cows, 800 to 1,000 pounds, 4 to 4½.

Medium to good beef cows, 700 to 800 pounds, 3½ to 4.

Good to choice heifers, 700 to 800 pounds, 4 to 4½.

Medium to good heifers, 600 to 700 pounds, 3½ to 4.

Above represent ruling prices on good quality beef cattle. Inferior grades and dairy types selling lower.

Mixed common steers, if fat, 700 to 900 pounds, 3½ to 4½.

Oxen, medium to good, if fat, 3 to 3½.

Mixed common cows, if fat, 600 to 800 pounds, 3 to 3½.

Mixed bunches, common to fair, 600 to 700 pounds, 2¾ to 3¼.

Good butcher bulls, 3 to 3¼.

Prime hogs, 160 to 200 average, 7¼ to 7⅜.

Good butcher hogs, 140 to 160 average, 7¼ to 7⅜.

Good choice pigs, 80 to 120 average, 6½ to 7¼.

Heavy rough hogs, 250 to 300 average, 6½ to 7¼.

Above quotations apply to corn-fed hogs.

Choice Tennessee lambs, 5 to 5½.

Medium to good lambs, 3½ to 4.

Good to fancy sheep, 2½ to 3½.

Good supply of cattle in yards this week, mostly medium grades. A load of 1,200 pounds shorthorns of good shape and in good flesh topped this week's market, although 700 to 900 prime cattle are in strong demand. Market as a rule steady, with slightly stronger tone to the better grades, while the trashy stuff continues dragging at lower prices with but little demand.

Hog market as a rule steady for the week with supply sufficient for trade requirements. Quality of hogs is better.

Sheep and lamb market continues strong to a shade higher on best grades of lambs, with good demand.

Section Director Weather Bureau.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 12.—Steady markets at home and abroad, waiting for further information as to the movement of the cotton crop to market, is the story of the day. Weather conditions continue favorable for the continued growth of the crop. Each time of late when the market has declined a shade below present prices it has rallied under a local covering demand and today was no exception to this practice. Early in the day, the local traders absorbed the offerings with this idea in their minds and they expect tonight that Europe will rally tomorrow.

The Truth About Florida.

BEGINNING with the issue of September 20, Mr. James A. Hollomon, for many years Washington correspondent, author and newspaper writer of nation-wide reputation, will publish a series of six articles in Florida's Financial and Industrial Record, entitled "The Plain Simple Truth About Florida." These articles will deal with every phase of Florida's life and industry—her opportunities and her pitfalls; her facts and fancies. The "truth" is what we are after—not the overdrawn statements of a land promoter, or the beautiful word-juggling of a song writer or a poetess; but the plain, matter-of-fact story of a state's advantages and disadvantages. Mr. Hollomon has studied Florida as few men have. He has studied her in comparison with California and other states covered in his extensive travels, and his series of six articles will be of intense interest not only to every person who has visited Florida, but to very person who is even thinking about Florida as a home now or some day.

The six issues of Florida's Financial and Industrial Record, containing this entire series, will be sent to any address as published, covering a period of three months, postage paid, for 25 cents. The publishers expect 50,000 new readers of The Record on this one series of Truth articles. Order immediately.

CHAPTER VI.

It has long been the custom to infuse new blood in a flock by procuring a male from elsewhere. This is right and proper with those who do not care to take extra work on hand; but the correct way to bring new blood in the flock is by procuring a hen every year and mating her with the best male in the flock, keeping only the male chicks from such a hen. By buying a new hen every year and raising the males from her it will give sufficient out-crossing to avoid inbreeding too closely. The reason for so doing is this: When a male from elsewhere is procured he sires all the chicks, and if there is a hidden defect in him, or if he proves to be undesirable, he imparts the disadvantages to every chick on the place; but when the young males are raised on the place, from a particular hen, the chicks from other hens are not injured at the same time. One should be very careful when procuring the male, but it is safer to raise them in the above manner. There is really no necessity for keeping a cock longer than the time he reaches the age of 3 years, for the reason that with poultry the males cost such a small sum it is of little consequence, so far as the expense is cocnerned. But there are those who wish to know how far inbreeding may be practiced without great injury. Inbreeding is seldom practiced by poultrymen, except to establish a strain or to secure some desirable point or characteristic. If it is the male bird that possesses the merits desired, it is customary to mate him with hens as nearly conforming to his qualifications as possible, and the next season to mate the cock with her own daughters. It is not safe to breed any closer, for fear of loss of vigor, but it is not uncommon to breed in-and-in for three or four generations. For practical purposes, the cock should be changed every year, but occasionally inbreeding for one season will do not harm. It is important that the cock be strong, active and vigorous, for when such is the case the liability to injury is lessened. Always raise your cockerels from particular hens, and sell all that are not desired for breeding purposes as soon as possible. And now I come to a brief description of a few of the most popular breeds of fowls. The Light Brahmas being about the oldest, 1849-50, will start with them. In color, they are white, with yellow legs, which are feathered on the outside to the end of the toes, the middle toes also being feathered, but not the inner ones. The beak, which should be yellow, has a dark stripe down the upper mandible, though it is not always required in hens. The comb is pea-shaped, rather higher in the center than at the front and rear, the comb having the appearance of three small combs, the center being the highest, in color red, and the serrations even. The ear lobes are red and rather large. The wattles of the hen are small, but of medium size for the cock. The breast should be full, and with the body, white, though bluish white is sometimes the under-color. The hackle of the cock should be white on the upper part, the remainder white, but having a black stripe running parallel with the black, beginning in the center of the white and tapering to the end. The hackle of the hen is black with white edge running parallel with the black, the hackle falling well over the neck, and the feathers at the flat of back, black or white and black. The wings of the cock and hen are small, with the bows white, black being present at times on the front of the bows of the cock. The upper web of the secondaries (the long quill feathers that grow on the second joint or forearm of a fowl's wing) should be black and the lower web white. The primaries (the flight feathers of the wing, hidden, or nearly so, when wing is closed) of the cock should be as near black as possible, while those of the hen should be black and white. The tail of the cock should be black, full, the curling feathers underneath being white, or white and black, with greenish black coverts and sickle feathers, the lower coverts being the same color, with white edging. The tail of the hen is also black, rather small, the two highest feathers white-edged, with black tail coverts also edged with white. The Brahmas have abundant soft fluff, giving the birds that broad appearance so noticeable, the color of which is white. The back is broad and rather flat near the hackle, while the body is deep. The cocks should weigh twelve pounds and the hens ten, while the cockerels (a bird under a year old) should reach ten pounds and the pullets (a female under one year) should reach eight pounds.

Will conclude description of Light Brahmas at next meeting, and take up another breed.

Mrs. C. L. Warren, of Greenwood, S. C., sends me this: "I wish you would put in your department, for those that are asking for a remedy for sorehead, just get some yellow oxide of mercury and mix with lard; just make the lard real yellow with the mercury, and wash the head, if the case is very bad." Thanks.

And Mrs. W. J. Ford, of Tryon, N. C., sends this: "As so many of the chicken lovers want to know what will take 'fleas' off their chickens, I want them to try green walnut leaves. Just strew them everywhere, perhaps a spray of the tea would be good. I never tried it for chicks, but it certainly will rid the house or barn of them. Just the common nut walnut." More thanks.

I want to say to Mrs. M. L. Moore, Slotham, Ga., Route 17, Box 50, that I am in receipt of her letter, and think the whole fault of the eggs not hatching was due to the male bird. He was not too old, but had some constitutional weakness; and after you found the first setting did not hatch you should have procured another male at once, for you were losing valuable time at a very busy season.

Price, $3,675; $1,500 cash, balance in 1, 2 or 3 years. Fine place, nicely located and it will pay somebody to take it up.

JAMES CRAIG LEAVES FOR ISTHMUS TODAY

James G. Craig, a native of Atlanta, who is now located in the canal zone, where he is senior traveling engineer of the Panama Railroad, will leave Atlanta tomorrow, after a month's visit to his brother, Walter Craig.

"Since I went down to the Isthmus," says Mr. Craig, "there have been great changes in the appearance of the entire country. In fact, one of those old French engineers who worked there before the United States took over the canal zone wouldn't know where he was if he were to come back now. The entire topography of the country has been changed radically even apart from the big ditch itself. The Calabra cut is almost another world wonder. The American realized it was a big job when work was started, but its size didn't daunt them. They went at it like Americans undertake any job—with a determination to finish it and that determination had much to do with the results so far attained. There will be no delay in completing the task."

DEARTH OF MINISTERS IN ATHENS DISTRICT

Washington, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Rev. W. L. Pierce, of Athens, presiding elder of the Athens district of the North Georgia conference, sees a distressing condition in the spiritual life of the community over which he presides, as denoted by the great scarcity of preachers in the field.

Dr. Pierce was in Wilkes county Sunday holding quarterly conferences. He stated that in the North Georgia conference alone, there was immediate need for fifty more preachers. Several charges in the Athens district have grown so rapidly and prospered so greatly that a division of the work was absolutely imperative in order to accomplish the greatest good, but such a course was impossible on account of the scarcity of preachers. Mr. Pierce said that God is still calling men to the ministry, but few are answering the call. He expressed the belief that there would still continue to be few answers to the call until the spiritual life of the church was raised high enough to produce preachers.

Dies in 117th Year.

Nashville, Tenn., September 12.—The oldest person in Christian county, probably in Kentucky, Mrs. Abbie Fuller, is dead. She was at least 110 and relatives claim she was 117.

STATE EDUCATION BOARD TO PUT NEW LAW IN FORCE

Will Confirm Appointment of Supervisors and Consider Rules on 20th.

The first meeting of the new board of education, appointed under the law passed by the legislature at the last session, will be held in the office of Governor Smith at the state capitol on September 20.

At this meeting of the board the state superintendent will nominate county supervisors, the state auditor and the office force which will be employed in the office of the state superintendent, and these nominations must be approved by the state board.

The meeting is of considerable importance from the fact that the provisions of the new law, which reorganizes the state school system, will become effective from the date of the meeting of the new school board.

WILLIE NEWTON MISSING.

All Efforts Have Failed to Locate Moultrie Boy.

Moultrie, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The parents of Willie Newton are very much alarmed owing to the fact that he has not been seen since the 16th of August. He is the son of G. W. Newton, one of the county's most prominent citizens, and an ex-representative. The young fellow is described as 16 years old; well grown for his age; dark hair and blue eyes. Efforts to locate him have failed so far, his father even going to Atlanta, as he thought he might have gone there. There is no reason why he should have run away except the desire he might have had for sight-seeing and excitement. His mother is suffering from a nervous shock over his continued absence, as she fears some harm may have befallen him.

Weekly Weather Report.

Washington, September 12.—Mean temperatures were from 2 to 7 degrees above normal, the greatest excess being in eastern Tennessee, eastern and central Arkansas and the interior of east Texas. The weekly mean temperature ranged from 72 to 82 degrees over the eastern, from 78 to 84 degrees over the central and as high as 88 degrees over the western portion of the cotton-growing states. The lowest mean temperature, 72 degrees, occurred at Asheville, N. C., and the highest, 88 degrees, at Del Rio, Texas.

Precipitation occurred generally, except that no rain fell over large areas in Texas and at a few stations in southeastern Arkansas. The precipitation was unevenly distributed, being generally heaviest in northeastern Arkansas, southern Louisiana and Oklahoma and South Carolina. A few stations in Texas received good rains. More than two inches occurred in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and the Carolinas. The greatest weekly amount, 4.30 inches, occurred at Calico Rock, Ark.

Bagging and Ties.

St. Louis, September 12.—Iron cotton ties, 91. Bagging, 8 15-16. Hemp twine, 7½.

Coffee.

New York, September 12.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 2@4 points, under scattered liquidation and in sympathy with lower European markets. Some selling may have been inspired by the large receipts, but moderate offerings were well absorbed around the initial figures during the early trading and the market later developed a decidedly firmer tone, on renewed covering of both near and late month shorts, buying by large trade interests and bull support. The close was firm at an advance of three points on September and of 8@13 points on later months. Sales 108,500 bags.

Havre was ¼@½ franc lower; Hamburg was ¼@1 pfennig lower. Rio barely steady, 75 reis lower at 7$750; Santos, quiet, fours 50 reis higher at 7$900; sevens unchanged at 7$300.

Receipts at two Brazilian ports, 147,000 bags, against 139,000 last year. Jundiahy receipts, 134,000, against 103,900 last year. Fine weather was reported in all districts of Sao Paulo, but private acbles report that the first flowering is unsatisfactory. Today's special cable from Santos reported fours 50 reis lower at 7$850, early today with Sao Paulo receipts of 71,000 bags against 144,000 a year ago.

New York warehouse deliveries yesterday 17,760 against 6,131 last year.

FORTUNE WON IN AMERICA: WILL WED GIRL IN GREECE

James Cotsovos Will Claim Girl He Left Behind Ten Years Ago.

JAMES COTSOVOS.
Who goes back to old home to wed girl he left behind.

Ten years ago a young Greek immigrant from the province of Athens steamed into New York harbor with hopeful eyes on the great statue of Liberty and a heart brimming over with all that the statue meant to him.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the same immigrant steamed out towards the ocean, this time a cabin passenger with the jingle of good American gold in his pockets, booked as James Cotsovos, business man and citizen, of Atlanta, Ga.

He was returning to his native Greece for his reward after years of labor. He was returning home to a reunion with his family and to claim the girl whom he had left behind ten years ago.

Cotsovos is one of the best known Greek citizens of Atlanta. He is proprietor of two of the largest cafes in the city, the Arcade, at 38 Peachtree street and the Peachtree cafe at 111 Peachtree street. His business interests are said to be worth at least $15,000.

Every cent of this has been accumulated by Cotsovos since his arrival in America. He combined remarkable business ability and good judgment with industry and economy—and there you have told in prosiac fashion the romance of the west, of the land of freedom, of the land where a man harvests the fruits of his labors. The romance of the east comes in the marriage which will soon take place in Athens, which is but 40 miles from Cotsovos' old home.

Shortly before he left Cotsovos presented the Grady hospital with a check for $100 in appreciation of their kindness to the Greek colony of Atlanta.

UNITED MISSION WORK PLANNED FOR S. AMERICA

Dr. G. Campbell Morgan While Here Arranging to Consolidate Effort of All Churches.

Dr. Len G. Broughton, of Atlanta; Dr. John Henry Jowitt, the new pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York; Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, and a number of noted Englishmen have formed a new mission organization for the evangelization of South America.

"The purpose of the organization," said Dr. Morgan Tuesday morning, "is to combine the now scattered missions of the Argentine, Peru and Brazil and to bring the people to a knowledge of spiritual Christianity. Heretofore, there have been many small missions without sufficient influence back of them to successfully carry out their mission plans, and recently we determined to effect a union which would strengthen mission work in South America.

"It is a new organization, so new that I am not yet thoroughly familiar with the field, but believe that South America is a coming country. Its possibilities for material growth and development are large, and it is interesting to know that Argentine alone grows as much wheat as Canada."

Dr. Broughton is to represent the southehn field in the United States for the new mission organization and Dr. Jowitt will represent the northern section.

Dr. Jowitt is the minister who was particularly invited by King Edward to the coronation; Dr. Morgan is of international fame; Dr. Broughton is widely known and all of the men associated with the new mission enterprise are persons of note and influence.

The headquarters of the organization are in London.

COL. SAMUEL DUNNING HURT BY VICIOUS HORSE

Colonel Samuel Dunning, of the department of the gulf, was painfully hurt yesterday afternoon by a vicious horse at the corner of Spring and Fourteenth streets, about 4 o'clock. He was knocked unconscious and had to be carried to his home, 21 East Linden street, in the Grady hospital ambulance.

Colonel Dunning was resting easily last night.

William W. Wright has several banana trees growing on his lawn at New Haven, Conn., and it is said that they are producing bananas that are almost as good as those grown in the tropics. The trees are not covered, but are growing in the open air.

Hall to Visit Dublin.

Dublin, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—The announcement that Hon. Joe Hill Hall will deliver an address at the courthouse in this city at noon on Thursday is the occasion of considerable speculation. It is stated that his address will not be in advocacy of the candidacy of himself or any other person, but that he will discuss the political situation with particular reference to taxation.

Russell Made Inspector.

Dalton, Ga., September 12.—(Special.)—Hal Russell has been promoted to the district management of the Southern Weighing and Inspecting Bureau, in charge of the Charlotte, N. C., division. For a number of years Mr. Russell has been the inspector in charge of the Knoxville office and his removal to Charlotte is a considerable promotion. He has supervision of all of North Carolina and a portion of South Carolina.
